

Mideast air fight explodes

By The Associated Press
Syria claimed its missiles brought down seven Israeli warplanes today in rapidly escalating fighting for key positions on Mt. Hermon and along the Golan Heights truce line, but Israel denied it.

Control of Mt. Hermon is sought by both sides because its 9,200-foot peak commands a view for miles into Lebanon, Israel and Syria, and possession could be used as a trading point in disengagement negotiations.

A Syrian communique said the downed Israeli planes were seen falling into Israeli-held territory on onto Mt. Hermon itself.

An Israeli military spokesman said "all our planes returned safely."

Syria also claimed that Israeli planes had bombed their own positions "inflicting casualties on their own troops" at Tel Al Arayess in the Golan Heights during confusion created by the Syrian missile attack. Israel called the claims "nonsense."

The spokesman confirmed that SAM missiles had been fired at the Israeli planes, but said he could not confirm or deny that ground to ground missiles were employed.

The Israeli jets struck at Syrian targets on the 9,200-foot peak and on the southern Golan front, a communique said.

Israel's air action apparently was triggered when Syria shelled the Mt. Hermon defenders and Israelis on the southern bulge.

Syrian communiques said ground fighting raged through the night and at this morning "the clashes spread to many areas of the front" involving tanks, artillery and ground to ground missiles.

The action brought to 11 the number of Israeli jets Syria claims to have downed in the last two weeks.

The Israeli air force made its fourth attack of the week earlier Thursday, hitting at Syrian positions around Mt. Hermon. The Syrian military command claimed its missiles brought down one F4 Phantom, but Israel said all its planes made it home safely.

In Washington, President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger held a surprise meeting with Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy.

High-ranking American officials said the session was to inform Egypt of continuing American efforts to arrange an agreement disengaging the Syrian and Israeli forces on the Golan Heights. They said it was not concerned with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's announcement Thursday that he was shopping in the West for the advanced missiles and planes the Soviet Union refuses to sell Egypt.

Sadat told the National Assembly in Cairo the Soviet Union had hesitated for six months on Egyptian arms requests. He did not name his new prospective suppliers, but there was speculation he would buy from France or would get Saudi Arabia or Kuwait to transfer arms sold them by some of the Western powers.

Seize ship with load of hashish

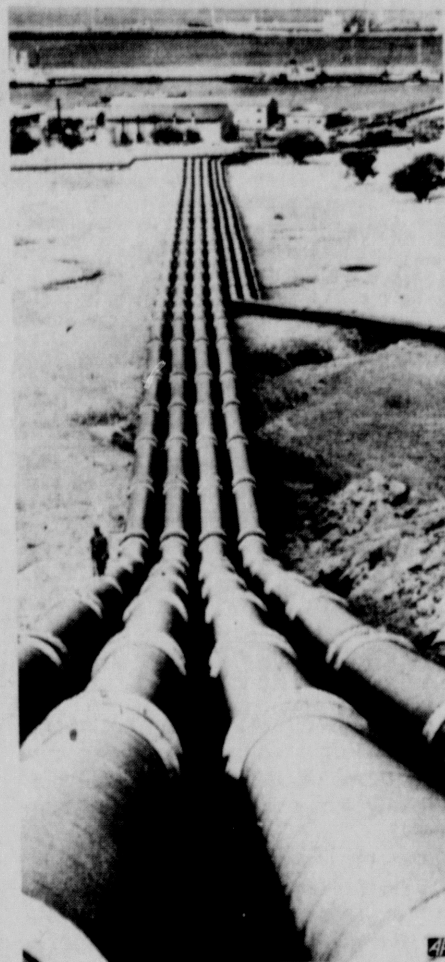

MIAMI (AP) — A search of a disabled freighter towed into Bahamian waters by a U.S. Coast Guard cutter has resulted in the largest seizure of hashish ever made in the Western Hemisphere, U.S. drug officials say.

Six men aboard the ship, all Americans, were arrested and 3,700 pounds of the marijuana-derivative were seized, the officials said Thursday. They placed a value of $15.5 million on the hashish.

The boarding of the 150-foot Sea Trader took place last Friday but the announcement of the seizure was not made until Thursday.

John H. Moseley, director of the Drug Enforcement Administration's Miami office, said American and Bahamian authorities cooperated in the boarding, seizure and arrests.

Moseley said the ship, the Sea Trader, became disabled in the Atlantic 800 miles off the Florida coast and was towed by the Cutter Gallatin to a point 60 miles northwest of Nassau, where it was boarded.

Marines on Cyprus

DHEKELIA BASE, Cyprus (AP)—The American helicopter carrier Iwo Jima began putting her detachment of United States Marines ashore today in preparation for sailing to the Suez Canal.

An advance party of Marines arrived at this British base in southeast Cyprus where a total of 300 Marines are to be stationed. They are the first American troops to be based on this island in the eastern Mediterranean, and their coming has been severely criticized by Greek Cypriot papers on both the extreme right and the extreme left.

Perk seek Guard aid

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Mayor Ralph J. Perk said Thursday night if the city's mounting piles of uncollected garbage become a serious health hazard he may ask Gov. John J. Gilligan to call out the Ohio National Guard to help during the city truck drivers' strike.

Perk said he planned to call the governor today for preliminary discussions on deploying guard troops, possibly Monday.

The strike is in its fifth day, with no indication when the members of Teamsters Local 244 will return to work.

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The percentage of Americans who want large families has declined steeply since 1968 and is at its lowest point in 38 years, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

Only 19 per cent of those interviewed recently said the "ideal family" should have four or more children. In 1968, 41 per cent favored big families.

Saxbe endangering SLA prosecution?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the American Bar Association says Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe may have endangered the prosecution of Symbionese Liberation Army members charged with a San Francisco bank robbery.

ABA chief Chesterfield Smith said Saxbe also may have threatened the prosecution of Patricia Hearst if it turns out that criminal charges are brought against her.

In an interview Thursday, Smith was questioned about the legal implications of Saxbe's statement on Wednesday labeling the SLA and Miss Hearst as a group of "common criminals" and Miss Hearst as a willing participant in Monday's robbery.

The FBI has issued a warrant for Miss Hearst as a material witness to the robbery and filed bank robbery charges against four others identified as previously associated with the SLA.

The SLA claims it seized Miss Hearst, daughter of newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst, from her apartment on Feb. 4.

As criticism mounted, Saxbe said through a Justice Department spokesman he stands by his statements and has "nothing to add."

"The potentials for prejudice can only be weighed when you're trying to impanel an impartial jury," Smith said. "I would not be surprised if an ingenious defense attorney on the proper occasion would raise it as some type of evidence that she could not get a fair trial because of these statements."

Smith said the prejudicial impact would depend on whether Saxbe's statements were widely read in the area from which a jury is drawn.

"But certainly if everybody saw it and everybody was aware of it, there is

Americans can't keep up, official says

Price spiral to continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sharply higher food prices and a record jump in industrial prices pushed the cost of living up 1.1 per cent in March as the worst inflation in a quarter century held its grip on the economy, the government reported today.

The Labor Department said last month's rise sent consumer prices 10.2 per cent higher than a year ago, the most in any 12-month period since an identical rise in 1948.

For the first quarter of 1974, consumer prices rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 14.5 per cent, highest in any three-month period since the first quarter of 1951 during the Korean War.

The gloomy economic report was the second in two days. The Commerce Department reported Thursday that the Gross National Product — the nation's total output of goods and services — fell at a 5.8 per cent annual rate, the first decline in three years and the biggest drop in 16 years.

Although the Nixon administration says it expects the economy to turn around in the second half of the year, some government analysts predict the next three months will be as bad or worse than the inflation for the first three months of the year.

With inflation continuing unabated, the Labor Department said buying power of American workers fell nine-tenths of 1 per cent in March to a level 4.7 per cent below a year ago. It marked the biggest annual decline since the government began keeping that statistic in 1964.

Sidney L. Jones, assistant commerce secretary for economic affairs, also said inflation must be brought under control before the country can fully recover from its current economic slowdown.

The Commerce Department reported the first quarter inflation rate — the worst since 1951 — in its report Thursday on the country's Gross National Product, the measure of value of the nation's output of goods and services.

The report also showed the economy during the first quarter declined at a 5.8 per cent annual rate, the first economic decline in three years and the biggest drop in 16 years.

The Labor Department was scheduled to release today figures on the increase in consumer prices during March.

Jones said at a news briefing that the country is "seeing the very brutal impact of inflation on the ability of the economy to grow."

He said inflation is increasing prices so fast that Americans can't keep up, and that consumer purchases have declined as a result.

Jones said the economic slowdown should level out in the second quarter and the economy probably will resume growth after mid-year. But he said unemployment probably will increase during the year to near 6 per cent.

There was apparent disagreement between Jones and the President's Council of Economic Advisers over the cause and extent of the slowdown.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility that it could prevent any prosecution, he said. Meanwhile, in Atlanta, Ga., FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley said the FBI would be "guided by facts and not by any opinion," when asked about Saxbe's comments about Miss Hearst.

Kelley said FBI agents are operating under the assumption "that she is the victim of pressure or coercion."

Smith, a lawyer in Lakeland, Fla., said Saxbe's accusation of Miss Hearst reminded him of President Nixon's statement that Charles Manson "was guilty, directly or indirectly, of eight murders" while the trial of Manson was in progress in 1970.

Gary L. Seevers, a member of the council, said the drop in auto production, which he said was more severe than expected, accounted for almost all of the decline in economic growth.

He said the GNP figures suggested consumer spending had increased significantly outside of autos and energy-related items and added that the council felt the inflation was not as severe as the report indicated.

Jones agreed that the decline in auto output was a major factor, along with a continuing slump in home building, but he said there also is evidence of weakness in personal consumption expenditures, capital investment and "an ability in the government sector to accelerate spending as much as anticipated."

Nixon ponders Watergate move

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is pondering what to do about a sweeping subpoena that orders President Nixon to turn over a mass of tapes and documents to be used in the Watergate cover-up trial of his former top lieutenants.

The subpoena issued Thursday by U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica directs Nixon to give the Watergate special prosecutor tapes and documents covering 64 presidential conversations.

Special prosecutor Leon Jaworski had asked Sirica last Tuesday to issue the subpoena after what he said were unsuccessful efforts to negotiate a voluntary agreement with the White House.

The subpoena was served late Thursday afternoon about two hours after Sirica signed it. It orders the materials turned over by 10 a.m. May 2.

Withholding subpoenaed materials needed for the conduct of a trial is a tougher legal problem than resisting such requests from investigatory bodies. Two of the defendants in this case joined the prosecutor in requesting that the materials be subpoenaed.

The new subpoena requests materials specifically for evidence in Wet weather splashes U.S.

By The Associated Press
Showers and thunderstorms splashed over the mid-Mississippi Valley, across the Ohio Valley and into New England today and near-freezing temperatures frosted the upper Great Lakes region.

Freeze or frost warnings were posted for Michigan's Lower Peninsula as temperatures tumbled into the 30s from Minnesota to Maine. Readings in the teens stung Upper Michigan.

A few showers were scattered over Texas and Arkansas. Most rainfall was below half an inch, but San Antonio measured over an inch before dawn.

A new storm system formed in the Plateau and northern California today, moving into the Rockies. Stockmen's advisories were posted from the central Plateau into the upper Rockies for tonight. Colorado was alerted to a winter storm watch for tonight through Saturday.

High winds stirred up sand in the Southern California mountains and deserts, making traveling hazardous.

A tornado was sighted near Big Spring, Tex., Thursday afternoon. Hailstones the size of golfballs hit the ground at San Antonio and Alice, Tex. A mobile home was overturned near Edinburg, Tex. No injuries were reported.

Another twister was spotted near Stockton, Calif., but there were no reports of damage or injuries.

Flooding continued on some rivers in Mississippi and Alabama still aggravated by heavy rains of one week ago. The Pearl River at Bogalusa, La., crested Wednesday night at a record level of 10 feet above flood stage.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 15 at Sawyer Air Force Base, Mich., to 76 at Key West, Fla.

Big names enter Ohio political scene

By The Associated Press
Glenn's supporters, estimated at about 500, overflowed the tiny river-front cafe and spilled out into the parking lot where many ate dinner in a tent on the back of a truck.

At one point Glenn climbed on a table but said he wasn't going to make a speech because it was all "just for fun."

Stevenson told Metzenbaum followers he was there because he felt it is important to keep Metzenbaum in the Senate. He said it is the only primary contest in which he's taken sides.

A candidate for governor, James Nolan, attended the Glenn dinner where he said he celebrated his 52nd birthday.

He also used the occasion to blast his Democratic opponent in the primary, Gov. Gilligan, for his operation of the Department of Public Welfare.

"The foulups in the state Welfare Department have been chronicled for the past three years," Nolan said. "Hospitals are on the verge of bankruptcy because of the state's inability to make Medicaid payments promptly."

He charged mismanagement has increased health care costs in Ohio by at least 10 per cent by forcing additional health care costs on the private sector.

"But it is the sick and the aged who are really suffering," he added. "Some hospitals in Ohio are reluctant to provide services either for an outpatient or inpatient, because they know payment will be delayed..."

A Republican candidate for governor, state Rep. Charles Fry, has urged that the Ohio National Guard be allowed to return to disaster-torn Xenia instead of spending two weeks at camp this summer.

"It would seem to me that returning to Xenia would be preferable, both from the standpoint of actual disaster training for the guard and from the standpoint of serving the needs of the people in the disaster area," Fry said in a statement at Toledo today.

Fry said he has asked U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, and Ohio Adj. Gen. Dana Stewart, to help in getting the assignment transferred.

Fry faces former Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes in the May 7 primary.

Earlier Thursday, state Democratic Chairman William Lavelle called a news conference to boost support for Metzenbaum, the party's endorsed candidate.

"I am confident that once the rank and file Democrat observes and hears these two candidates face to face, that they will endorse Metzenbaum for a full term in the U.S. Senate," Lavelle said.

Lavelle said he called the news conference because polls showed Glenn with a slight lead in the race.

SENATE Watergate committee still is in the courts.

In other Watergate developments: —Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said that if Nixon refuses to cooperate with the House impeachment inquiry it would put his administration in grave danger.

—John H. Melcher Jr., executive vice president of American Ship Building Co., pleaded guilty to being an accessory after the fact in an effort to cover up an illegal corporate campaign contribution to Nixon's 1972 reelection effort.

—Informed sources said Jaworski's office has taken over the Internal Revenue Service investigation of Nixon's controversial gift of presidential papers. Previously, a congressional committee had conducted an inquiry.

SABINA — More than 200 persons attended a public hearing conducted at the Sabina School cafeteria Thursday night to review a proposed project in the Rattlesnake Creek Watershed area.

A total of 27 persons voiced their opinions on the proposed Rattlesnake project, which covers a 277-square mile area in Fayette, Clinton, Highland, Greene and Madison counties.

Almost all opinions voiced during the meeting which lasted 2½ hours were in favor of the proposed watershed improvement, covering 177,000 acres draining into Rattlesnake Creek from the five counties involved. Serious flooding and drainage problems exist throughout the watershed area.

The Rattlesnake Watershed Steering Committee's pending application for planning assistance under the federal Small Watershed Act of 1954 was reviewed.

JOHN A. PETERSON, chairman of the Rattlesnake Watershed Steering Committee and also chairman of the Fayette County Soil and Water Conservation District, said representatives of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources who attended Thursday's meeting will recommend to Director William B. Nye that he certify the project to the U.S. Soil Conservation Service for a preliminary investigation.

The application for planning assistance was filed in 1970 by the county commissioners and the soil and water conservation districts of the five counties in the Rattlesnake Creek Watershed.

The watershed project was requested to reduce flooding damages to agricultural and urban lands, provide agricultural drainage, increase fish population and improve wildlife habitat.

Although the project is in a pre-planning stage, the sponsors and steering committee anticipate a significant amount of stream channelization in Fayette and Clinton counties.

SERVING on the Rattlesnake Watershed Steering Committee are county commissioners from the five counties, Extension Service agents, conservationists from the five counties, two property owners from each of the counties and a representative of the Fayette County Fish and Game Association. Mrs. Mary Morris, Fayette County auditor, serves as the committee's secretary.

The steering committee has received resolutions adopted by 29 different organizations in the five-county area stating their support of a preliminary investigation. The committee also holds a petition bearing 100 signatures of interested farmers and landowners within the watershed area who support a preliminary investigation on the proposed project.

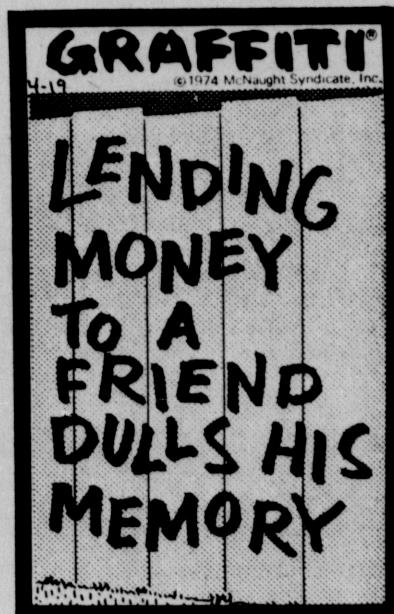

Five representatives of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources attended the public hearing to assess the need for the watershed project and to determine the level of public support for the project.

REPRESENTING the Ohio Department of Natural Resources were Art Bonar, watershed planning coordinator, Art Waldorf, small watershed division of planning administrator, Roger Hotham, Stu Lewis, Mike Shafer and Mary Bruner.

M. David Urmston, deputy director of the Ohio Department of Agriculture, spoke in favor of the project.

"It is my desire that projects such as

not handling Nixon taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank DeMarco, the attorney under investigation for his role in preparing President Nixon's contested tax returns, says his law firm still is handling business for Nixon but isn't directly responsible for his current tax return.

He said his firm continues to handle local property matters for Nixon, presumably concerning the President's San Clemente estate.

DeMarco's actions in preparing Nixon's tax returns for 1969-72 were examined by the Internal Revenue Service and a congressional committee as part of their review of the President's taxes. After their findings, Nixon agreed to pay $432,787 in back taxes, plus interest.

Informed sources now say the IRS has referred the questions about the preparation of the returns, including DeMarco's role, to the Watergate special prosecutor. DeMarco said he has not been contacted by anyone on the special prosecution force.

DeMarco commented from his Los Angeles office in response to questions asked by telephone through his secretary, who relayed the answers.

DeMarco had signed Nixon's tax returns as preparer along with Arthur Blech, a Los Angeles accountant.

The White House has refused to comment on who is preparing the return for 1973. Blech said recently the White House had obtained an extension of the normal April 15 filing deadline.

U.S. vulnerable to embargo, Sawhill says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Future energy chief John C. Sawhill warns that the nation will remain "just as vulnerable, probably more so" to an Arab oil embargo for the next few years as it was last winter.

Sawhill told reporters Thursday that if the Arab nations cut off oil shipments to the United States again, "we would have to go to more drastic measures to reduce demand, but it might still be possible to stop short of coupon rationing."

Designated Wednesday to head the Federal Energy Office when its present administrator, William E. Simon, becomes Treasury secretary, Sawhill said he plans to push hard for energy conservation as the only practical way to reduce U.S. dependence on foreign oil for the next two or three years at least.

The aim, he said, is to enable the nation "to absorb any realistically foreseeable oil cutoff" without being forced into more far-reaching policy changes.

This also was the ultimate aim of President Nixon's "Project Independence," the drive for U.S. energy self-sufficiency by 1980.

"I don't think self-sufficiency means zero imports of oil," Sawhill said. "I think we will be importing some oil in 1980 and probably some uranium."

"But I think we want to be in such a position that no country or group of countries can dictate our policy..."

"At this point, we are probably too vulnerable to a cut-off and we were headed toward even greater vulnerability and toward greater dependence on two oil-producing countries, Iran and Saudi Arabia," he said.

Economic need cornerstone of U.S. disaster relief bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican congressman says a test to show economic need is a key concept in efforts by Congress and the Nixon administration to settle on terms of new legislation for helping disaster victims.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, whose district includes tornado-torn Xenia, Ohio, said Thursday his "consistent position" has been one of opposition to the concept of disaster loan "forgiveness" features. Brown said he feels disaster victims would "rather have honest help than some kind of a dole."

When President Nixon vetoed a 1973 bill aimed at liberalizing the disaster loan program, he told Congress this measure would have provided "federal subsidized loans and grants to all disaster victims regardless of economic need."

Nixon argued that a "wealthy landowner, who could provide for himself through insurance or could easily obtain a private loan, should not be entitled to a $2,500 free grant from the government and an additional loan at only 3 per cent interest."

This was the so-called "forgiveness"

AMID THE VAST EXPANSE — Seemingly lost in the desert, construction consultants and members of the Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors' Club stood in the vast expanse of what will soon be a K-Mart discount store. On hand for the formal groundbreaking were John McGill (with shovel) of Developers Diversified, project coordinators, and Don Stewart, to his right, of Ruxcilli Construction Co. The plans call for a 40,000-square-foot store, and parking for nearly 300 cars to be in operation sometime in October. The firm has options on the adjoining property and hopes to develop a small shopping center in the future.

U.S. car firms' subsidiaries to send vehicles to Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Big Three U.S. automakers will soon begin sending cars and trucks to Cuba from their Argentine subsidiaries under an historic decision announced by the State Department.

After five months of indecision, the State Department announced Thursday night approval of export licenses filed by Ford, Chrysler and General Motors Corp., despite hemispheric restrictions on sales to Cuba.

Auto industry sources estimated the transaction will total some $150 million. The only American automobiles left in Cuba are those of the tail-fin era of the late 1950s — before U.S.-Cuban relations soured.

State Department officials said they made an exception for the Big Three because "we did not want to see the companies suffer as a result of U.S. policy."

Argentina, which unilaterally violated the embargo last year, claimed the State Department had no right to impede a sale by firms incorporated under Argentine law.

The U.S. decision was announced after the end of a Western Hemisphere foreign ministers' meeting which received a message relayed here by Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Through Mexican Foreign Minister Emilio Rabasa, Castro passed word he is agreeable to a partial re-entry into the interAmerican system after a 12-year absence.

Rabasa said he received last month personal assurances from Castro that Cuba is prepared to play a "positive nonobstructionist" but restricted role in hemisphere affairs.

Cuba, excluded from the Organization of American States in 1962, has no interest in rejoining but would not be adverse to sending a representative to a non-OAS hemisphere meeting scheduled for next March in Buenos Aires.

The ministers agreed that an invitation will be extended if all nations accept or at least tolerate Cuba's presence at the meeting.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was noncommittal about the plan but several of Latin America's right-wing military dictatorships voiced opposition, diplomats said.

Bengals sue WFL, Bergey

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals of the National Football League today filed suit against the World Football League and linebacker Bill Bergey.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court, seeks a temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction against Bergey, a Bengals' veteran, and the owners and organizations of the WFL.

Bergey this week signed a contract to join Norfolk's WFL franchise in 1976 for a $300,000 package spread over several years.

The suit asks the court to prohibit Bergey from promoting the WFL or any of its teams or permitting his name to be used for that purpose until his contract with the Bengals runs out.

The suit asks Bergey to return any money he received from the WFL and to prohibit him from receiving it in the future until his Bengals contract expires.

The suit also asks the court to issue a restraining order and preliminary injunction against all WFL teams from inducing any player under contract with the Bengals from entering into a contract or business relationship with the WFL until their existing contracts expire.

Bomber gets prison term

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Karleton Armstrong has been sentenced to 10 years in prison on multiple federal charges in connection with a bombing at the University of Wisconsin and an attempted bombing at munitions plant in nearby Baraboo.

The university blast killed one man. Armstrong, 27, is already serving a 23-year state sentence for murder and arson. The 10-year sentence was imposed Thursday by U.S. District Court Judge James Doyle.

Both incidents took place in 1970. The university blast severely damaged Sterling Hall and killed a physics researcher, Robert Fassnacht, 33.

Armstrong had said the bombing was an attempt to end the war in Vietnam. He called it a political act, rather than a criminal act.

Still sought for the university bombing are Armstrong's younger brother, Dwight; Leo Burt, Havertown, Pa.; and David S. Fine, Wilmington, Del.

A cool front pushed across Ohio overnight, bringing an end to the warm temperatures of Thursday.

Most of the state had readings in the 60s Thursday, ranging from 55 at Cleveland Burke Lakefront Airport to 69 in Cincinnati. Cloudy skies and cooler temperatures moved into the state during the night, pushing temperatures down to the 30s north to around 50 along the Ohio River.

There was some light rain along with the drop in temperatures, ranging from a trace to .18 inch in Toledo.

Northern Ohio was to see some clearing today, while cloudy skies were to persist in the south. Highs were to reach the 50s north to the 60s south.

A freeze warning was in effect for northern Ohio tonight, with lows around 30 north to the 40s south.

Cloudiness was expected to cover the state Saturday in advance of a low pressure system moving in from the west.

A chance of showers Sunday and Monday, followed by clearing skies Tuesday. Highs Sunday in the 70s and low 80s and in the 60s Monday and Tuesday. Lows in the 50s.

OSU dental college loses federal aid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University's College of Dentistry reports it is losing vast sums of federal money at the same time its student enrollment is on the rise.

Dean John R. Wilson said the school is losing about $50,000 in research money this year, and in the upcoming fiscal year expects another $700,000 in federal funds to be cut.

Still another half million dollars will be trimmed from federal grants in 1976-77, he said.

The Congress has chosen to begin phasing out its health care grants at a time when the school is experiencing its greatest enrollment, Wilson said.

Before, the school worked to build its 678 student body to 800, Wilson said, but now that many students could be troublesome.

As a result of the cuts, Wilson said cavity and cancer research probably will be halted.

He was pessimistic about the possibility of extra funds from the state legislature or renewed appropriations from Congress.

He said the school would continue to appeal to its alumni to bail it out of the crunch.

Twister victims found housing

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Homeless Ohio tornado victims are being housed in apartments and homes in the private market whenever possible, the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration field office said Thursday.

Mobile homes are used only when private dwellings are not available within reasonable commuting distance, the FDAA said.

Damaged homes are being repaired, provided the cost doesn't exceed $3,000, it added.

Nearly 30 per cent of the victims of the April 3 tornadoes have been provided temporary housing, FDAA said.

Officials said the government's obligation to rehouse applicants ends when relocation is refused.

Auto earnings to be worst in 10 years

DETROIT (AP) — Stock market analysts predict the Big Three auto makers collectively will report their worst first-quarter profits in more than a decade.

The analysts say January-through-March earnings for General Motors, Ford and Chrysler will range from very poor to terrible because of a severe sales slump coming on the heels of a banner year in 1973.

The automakers will release their January-March operating results in 10 days.

"Stinking sales," said auto analyst Robert Williams of Argus Research Corp., in New York, as he explained the expected poor performance of the three firms.

Sales are down more than 27 per cent from last year, and production has fallen 34 per cent, forcing the layoff of more than 107,000 workers.

General Motors, the industry's No. 1 producer, is expected to be the biggest loser. GM's sales during the quarter

Stock prices fall sharply

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, confronted by a steady stream of bad news on inflation and interest rates, fell back sharply in light trading today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 9.00 at 860.92, and declining issues swamped gainers by close to a 3-1 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Among the negative influences listed by analysts were the spread of a record-setting 10 1/4 per cent prime lending rate through the banking industry, and a government official's prediction that inflation in the second quarter might be at least as bad as it was in the first.

Coastal States Gas was the Big Board volume leader, up 3/4 at 8 1/2 in trading that included a 171,000-share block at 7 1/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .52 at 94.90.

Other Big Board issues on the active list included Weyerhaeuser, down 1 1/4 at 44 1/4.

9 steel firms named in suit on price fix

HOUSTON (AP) — Nine steel companies were accused Thursday by the state of Texas of price fixing in the sale of reinforcing steel.

The federal court civil action alleges violation of antitrust laws and seeks damages of "at least tens of millions of dollars."

A similar civil and criminal action filed earlier by the federal government named the same defendants.

Named defendants were United States Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Arco Steel, Border Steel Rolling Mills, Inc., of El Paso, the Ceco Corp. of Chicago, Laclede Steel Co. of St. Louis, Schindler Bros. Steel of Sealy, Structural Metals, Inc., of Seguin, and Texas Steel Co. of Fort Worth.

The state suit alleges the defendants have conspired since 1969 to fix prices through "rigged and collusive bids." The petition says the Texas Highway Department alone in 1971 purchased 86,000 tons of reinforcing steel from the defendant firms.

The court was asked to require that defendant firms owning both mills and fabricating facilities be ordered to divest themselves of the fabricating facilities so as to permit open competition in the sale and distribution of reinforcing steel materials in Texas.

Hill said the reinforcing bar sales under the allegedly illegal arrangement among the companies totaled more than $20 million in 1971 alone.

The suit alleges that beginning in 1969 the firms agreed to divide the market among them and collude in the rigging of bids.

Mariner falters

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 10 should still be able to make a return visit to Mercury next fall despite a failure of equipment that sends data on the spacecraft back to earth, say mission spokesmen.

Information collected by Mariner's scientific instruments and cameras can still be beamed to receivers on earth, spokesmen at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

The failure was the second major electrical problem aboard the 1,100-pound space voyager since it flew past Mercury March 29 and sent back man's first close-up photos of the planet's surface.

Williams said the industry should do better during the second quarter — which has already shown a sales increase — but will still be off significantly from last year's pace.

State loses major strip mine suit

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—After an epic battle between conservationists and coal companies, the Ohio Division of Reclamation has lost a major test of the state's ability to enforce the tough coal strip mining laws of 1972. A coal company has won the right to stripmine a hill which residents of the tiny Belmont County community of Crescent fear could wipe out their town with landslides and water unleashed from abandoned deep mines.

The Plain Dealer has learned that the Strip Mine Reclamation Board of Review has overruled a decision by Raymond B. Lowrie, state reclamation chief, who had refused to grant a strip mine license to Andrew Massimino, owner-operator of the Joyce Coal Co. of St. Clairsville.

The vote was reported to be 4-1, with one member of the board abstaining. Although the review board will not announce its decision for several days, The Plain Dealer learned that the board granted Massimino's appeal and will order Lowrie to grant a license for the Joyce Coal Co. to strip 2.9 acres on the slopes of the steep hill.

The unincorporated village of Crescent, with a population of about 75, lies at the foot of the hill four miles northeast of St. Clairsville.

Belmont County is Ohio's hottest strip mining area.

Lowrie said Thursday he had not been notified of the board's decision and declined comment. He said his department would have 30 days to appeal a ruling to Franklin County Common Pleas Court in Columbus.

Massimino could not be reached for comment. However, his lawyer, Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, said, "There is no danger whatsoever to the people of Crescent; that has been testified to by experts."

Alexander said the community is too far from the site to be damaged "even if the whole hill collapses."

He said also the area would be "beautified" by Massimino's reclamation work after the coal is brought out.

The board heard testimony last month from state and federal experts and coal company representatives.

Patricia Hearst references found in SLA notebook

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three weeks before Patricia Hearst was abducted, police found a Symbionese Liberation Army notebook containing cryptic references to her, the San Francisco Chronicle reported today.

The coed's father, newspaper magnate Randolph A. Hearst, told the Chronicle the notebook was "unquestionable proof" his daughter had "in no way" arranged her own kidnapping.

On Thursday, he called U.S. Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe irresponsible for saying Patricia was a common criminal because of her role in an SLA bank robbery. Hearst said only his daughter and her abductors knew whether she was a willing participant in the holdup.

Bank robbery suspect suicide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The FBI sought Thursday two men in connection with a 1973 Ohio bank robbery after the third holdup suspect allegedly shot himself here, the FBI said.

Palmer M. Baken Jr., special agent in charge of the FBI's Cincinnati office, said Edward Wayne Huffman, 34, put a gun in his mouth and shot himself to death Thursday just as agents and police converged on a residence to arrest him.

Huffman had been charged in the Dec. 3, 1973 robbery of the Farmers Bank of West Lebanon, Ohio, the FBI said. They said he also had been sought for questioning in a bank robbery in Tampa, Fla., and three other bank holdups in Dayton.

Two suspects in the Lebanon robbery remain at large. They are David Lee Brown, 29, of Irvin, Ky., and Roger Lee Hall, 23, of Hamilton, Ohio.

Subpoena reporters in Vesco case

NEW YORK (AP) — Reporters Sally Quinn of the Washington Post and Ymelda Dixon of the Washington Star-News have been subpoenaed as government rebuttal witnesses at the criminal conspiracy trial of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans.

The prosecution hopes their testimony will tilt the balance against Mitchell on one of the perjury counts in the indictment.

Currently under advisement by federal Judge Lee P. Gagliardi is a motion to quash the subpoena against Miss Quinn, who returned to the Post after a highly publicized five-month stint on the "CBS Morning News."

Meanwhile, Stans returns to the witness stand today to wind up cross-examination by Asst. U.S. Atty. John Wing.

Mitchell and Stans are accused of conspiring to obstruct a massive Securities and Exchange Commission fraud investigation of international financier Robert L. Vesco, in exchange for Vesco's secret $200,000 cash contribution to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign. The government claims the alleged perjury was an attempt to hide purported influence peddling from the grand jury.

One of the perjury counts in the indictment charged that Mitchell falsely denied seeing volunteer Republican campaign worker Daniel Hofgren at a political fund-raising gala at the Washington Hilton Hotel on March 8, 1972.

Hofgren testified he asked Mitchell if he'd seen Vesco that day and that Mitchell replied, "you stay away from that."

Miss Quinn and Miss Dixon were said to have been covering the March 8 event for their newspapers. It is known the government hoped to elicit testimony from one or both that they saw Hofgren talking to Mitchell at the Washington Hilton that night.

The Vesco aides turned over the $200,000 contribution in $100 bills to Stans on April 10, 1972. He and Mitchell had left the Cabinet by that time to direct Nixon's successful re-election effort. Stans headed the fundraising activities of the campaign, with Hugh Sloan Jr. as his finance committee treasurer.

Deferring to the Oil People

Herewith a fairy tale.
Once upon a time a United States senator asked the Internal Revenue Service to provide a high school civics class with information about oil industry subsidies and tax benefits.
But the IRS thought it would be nice to let the oil industry speak its own piece on the subject, so it passed on the senator's request to the American Petroleum Institute. Which complied, of course, with suitable emphasis on the oil industry's understandably biased views.

The unfortunate thing is that this is not a fairy tale. It happened in just that way.
The senator is question, Alan Cranston of California, was not greatly pleased to have the IRS thus defer to the API. In fact, he told Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz it appeared that his agency (which includes the IRS) was "nothing more than a 'mouthpiece' - a paid apologist - for the American Petroleum Institute."
Strong language. But what is one to think when an inquiry about the government's tax treatment of an industry is referred to that industry instead of getting the factual answer such an inquiry deserves?

Cranston's letter to Shultz contains more in the same vein, expressing great dismay that the government "would defer to the American Petroleum Institute for an explanation of such important and controversial matters as percentage depletion allowance, expensive intangible drilling and development costs, the foreign tax credit" and the like.
We share his dismay, and think his swing at the Treasury Department was well deserved.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Rude awakening coming

WASHINGTON — The uproar over whether President Nixon will or will not respond to the subpoenas calling for taped conversations on Watergate is a ripple compared to the tumult still to come.

The naive belief in the White House is that the limits of the impeachment inquiry can be drawn around Watergate. The President and his chief counsel, James St. Clair, are due for a rude awakening.

Already in preparation within the House Judiciary Committee are requests for documents and tapes covering the ITT affair, the milk fund, the President's taxes, campaign financing and other aspects of his troubled presidency. If these requests are not honored, subpoenas will undoubtedly follow.

This accords with Chairman Peter Rodino's conviction that the "whole man" must be considered in the proceeding before his committee. It cannot be simply the Watergate break-in and the cover-up.

The scope of the other charges is in many respects far greater than what Administration propagandists sought at the outset to downgrade as a "caper."

Although Congress is in recess, Rodino and the committee staff are working hard through this week to try to move the inquiry ahead as rapidly as possible. Yet for all their efforts the timetable stretches into the summer.

THE CALENDAR looks at the moment like this:

As announced, the presentation of evidence is to begin on May 7. This will take at least six weeks. Then some time after mid-June the knotty attempt to write a committee report with recommendations will begin. As committee insiders see it, this can be done in two weeks, although that is probably optimistic.

That comes up to the July 4 recess which, like the Easter recess, would in the normal course of events be for 10 days. But already consideration is being given to an appeal to the leadership of the House to call off or foreshorten that vacation.

The objective is to get an impeachment resolution before the House so that debate can begin without the interruption of the July 4 interval.

That debate will take at least two weeks and probably longer. That puts an impeachment resolution — many consider it not a likelihood but a certainty — before the Senate on or about Aug. 1.

DEMOCRATIC leaders have said it would take two weeks to prepare for his trial by the Senate which probably cuts it thin. So the trial goes on in September and October when under normal circumstances the congressional campaign would be at its height.

No one can accuse Rodino of trying to drag out the procedure. That such an even tempered, reasonable man should be cast up out of the seniority system is a piece of good luck.

To be sure he lost his cool when, following St. Clair's insulting letter asking for a two-week delay in responding to the tape request and the last-minute St. Clair telephone call, the Republicans on the committee started running off in all directions. But that was an understandable lapse.

The committee vote of 33 to 3 in favor of subpoenaing the documents was the handwriting on the wall for the White House. Under Rodino's careful, well-tempered leadership something like that bipartisan vote is likely to prevail. This will be more difficult as the list extends into the charges publicly aired and in some instances already in the courts.

THE MYSTERY is why the White House cannot understand where resistance — stubborn resistance — is leading. Even staunch Republicans are beginning to believe that the President must have something to hide. Otherwise, they are saying, why doesn't he turn over what the committee wants?

In short the "executive privilege" pretext is wearing painfully thin.

It was Sen. Hugh Scott, the minority leader, who first suggested that the real solution was to have a truck back up to the White House and load in everything. That was ignored as was Scott's gambit about tapes proving the President's innocence if only they could be released.

Increasingly the President is a lonely, isolated figure. And that is part of the mystery.

mittee has been fishing for these many weeks is proof that Nixon himself was aware of what was going on. Maybe the tapes will tell us, maybe not.

When did Nixon try to "steal" an election? It was the Democrats who nominated McGovern. The Committee to Re-elect the President boys were creeps in more ways than one, but it was not Nixon who told Howard Hunt to for messages that would implicate John F. Kennedy in the murder of South Vietnam's Diem.

THE MEASURE of Mr. Lurie's fairness comes out in his treatment of the Alger Hiss case. Lurie does not mention that Hiss was convicted, not on a spy charge, but of perjury. He tried to make out that he had never known a man called Whittaker Chambers.

When both Hiss and Chambers told the same anecdote in separate rooms about Hiss's birdwatching activities concerning a prothonotary warbler, Nixon was not the only investigator who was convinced that Hiss was concealing the truth about a friendship.

When Nixon appointed Archibald Cox as a special prosecutor, he retained the right to fire him in case of extraordinary improprieties. Cox leaked information about his investigatory activities to his Kennedy friends on Capitol Hill. Wasn't this an impropriety that Nixon had a right to regard as extraordinary?

Nixon never got his own story about the reasons for the firing across, but the jury — in this case the House and, quite possibly, the Senate — would be derelict in its duty if it were to hang the President because he is inept at personal public relations.

Nixon is being tried in advance by polls, by innuendos, by outrageous statements in popular paperback writing, by requests that he resign before any guilt has been proved.

With all this going on, how can any impeachment trial be conducted without prejudice?

TV show aims at black women

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A TV variety-talk show starring Lena Horne, titled "Lena Horne's Grapevine," has been announced. The first hour-long show in the 13-week schedule will be taped here.

The show is being designed to appeal primarily to black, female adults but its creators expect to win much of the general audience as well.

Miss Horne will sing, interview guests and be hostess and commentator. Programs will be taped in the studio and on location. Cameo appearances of celebrities from the entertainment world will highlight the first show.

The results of experiments carried out in 1943 have shown that the fastest messages transmitted by the nervous system travel at 265 m.p.h. With advancing age, impulses are carried 15 per cent more slowly.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

The following was written by Mrs. Mildred Galloway Burnett, wife of Jay Burnett and a former resident of Washington C.H. who now lives in Xenia:

"How do you describe a tornado? It is impossible! Even more impossible is the description of what happens when it strikes. Homes ground to bits, large buildings of stone, brick and steel toppled, cars and trucks hurled through space, a wooded park turned into a field and, most tragic of all — death.

"Each Xenia person has their own story of what happened to them and after you have listened to that story you feel you still do not know and never will know all that person experienced. Here, as part of this letter is a brief story of our exterior experience. I am not sure we ourselves know all that happened inside our minds and hearts.

"Jay and I watched the black cloud in the west from our kitchen window, as at first it seemed to me to come toward us, then turned north. He had just been home about 15 minutes coming from the bowling alley. If he had been a few minutes later he would have been right in the path of the tornado and that probably would have been fatal.

"We heard the roar and watched the twisting, lashing trees as rain came in torrents. Then, in a few minutes, the noise, except for the rain, was over. Jay went to the bowling alley very soon and I didn't see him again for hours. The bowling alley, the motel and buildings all over that end of town were completely destroyed.

"Destruction was widespread. Homes and other buildings I have known all my life and are like dear friends are scheduled for demolition. To mention just one — the Second United Presbyterian Church, with brick and stone walls a foot-and-a-half to two feet thick, had three walls collapse inward and one wall fell out. "Half the town is gone and 55.6 million dollars is the estimated value of the loss. The wonder is the death toll was not in the thousands; it was 35 at last report. Words absolutely cannot describe the destruction.

"All utilities were off and we were without heat from Wednesday evening until Friday midnight when our gas was turned on. The temperature during that time was around 30 degrees. Yes, I caught cold, was sick in bed two days and felt like staying there longer, but, with the phone ringing, someone at the door and Jay dashing in and out I couldn't stand it to be out of things so got up and learned to cough and blow my nose standing up.

"We are saddened by the great loss of so many but the courage and fine spirit everyone has is remarkable. And help has poured into the town from far and wide.

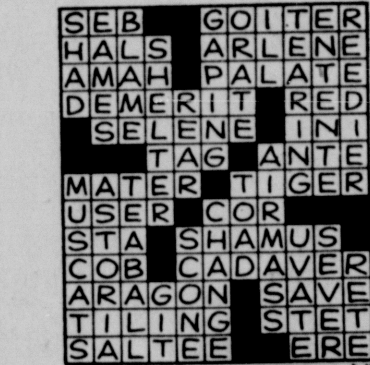

"People have brought and offered everything from personal assistance to Easter bunnies. Who says kindness and neighborliness have gone out of style!"

Dear Abby:

When the phone rings, it's a call to duty

DEAR ABBY: Here is the big argument between me and my mother. If I am home alone, should I have to answer the phone when it rings? I say only if I feel like it. She says I must, regardless!

Let's assume the phone rang, and I didn't answer it. If the call is for a member of the family who isn't home, he or she wouldn't be home to talk anyway, so if it's important, the caller would call back later, right?

If the call is for me, if I chose not to answer it that means I don't feel like talking, so that's my privilege, isn't it?

That's my argument, and my mom disagrees. I see no reason why I should have to tear myself away from whatever I'm doing to answer the telephone. I am tired of being a secretary for my parents and taking messages while they are out. If messages are that important to them they should get a mechanical box that answers telephone calls with a prerecorded message.

I am curious to know your opinion on the matter.

TIREDEEN

DEAR TIREDEEN: I think your mother is right. It could be an emergency of an important message for someone in your family. Now, get off your duff and answer the telephone when it rings!

DEAR ABBY: In a few months we will be moving into our new home, and I'd like to throw a question out to you and your readers.

We will have a swimming pool, and I want to enjoy using it; however, I've observed other pool owners having problems with uninformed guests who overstay their welcome. Also neighbors who get hurt if they are told: "No, not today."

Someone suggested the flag system but how do I keep the undesirables from joining in, too?

How can we ask people nicely to leave at a certain time without turning them off completely?

There it is. Am I making a mountain out of a molehill?

NEW POOLOWNER

DEAR OWNER: The flag system is best. Who are the "undesirables" who "might" join in, too? "If you mean strangers, ask them to leave. If they're neighbors who have been invited by you to come on over when your flag is out, when you want them to leave at a certain time make it plain beforehand, so they won't be surprised.

DEAR ABBY: At a banquet recently I was being introduced to my husband's boss and employees when a secretary piped up, "Your hair is very pretty. Or is that a wig?" (It was). There was total silence while everyone waited for my reply. Having been put on the spot, I had to tell the truth, but I don't know when I've been so humiliated.

I have witnessed nervy questions being asked of others. For example: "How much did that cost?" Also: "How come you never had any children?"

Are people getting less considerate of others? I have never noticed such bad manners before. Please tell people to cut it out!

PLEASE DON'T ASK

DEAR PLEASE: Rude, thoughtless and presumptuous people always have been with us, but no one is compelled to answer a question he doesn't want to answer. An appropriate response is, "I don't think that is any of your business." And don't hang around for a rebuttal.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, April 19, the 109th day of 1974. There are 256 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1775, the American Revolution began with the battles of Lexington and Concord.

On this date, in 1782, Holland recognized the independence of the American colonies.

In 1783 — eight years after the battles of Lexington and Concord — Congress announced the end of the Revolutionary War.

In 1824, the English poet, Lord Byron, died in Greece in the fight for Greek independence.

In 1865, funeral services for Abraham Lincoln were held at the White House.

In 1898, the United States issued an ultimatum to Spain to relinquish authority in Cuba.

In 1967, former West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer died at the age of 91.

Ten years ago ... a coalition government in Laos was deposed by a right-wing military group.

Five years ago ... members of the Afro-Asian Society seized a building at Cornell University in New York.

One year ago ... the United States suspended mine-clearing operations along the North Vietnamese coast, to put pressure on the Communists to halt cease-fire violations.

Today's birthday: Former Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Glenn Seaborg is 62 years old.

Thought for today: We have given you a republic, if you can only keep it that Benjamin Franklin, 1706-1790.

The candy bar didn't become an American institution until World War I when manufacturing methods were changed to mass produce the compact packets of energy for "The morale, health and even survival of the dough-boys," says the National Geographic Society.

How to prejudice a jury

What chance has Richard Nixon of getting a fair Congressional hearing in the present political climate? Not much.

He needs a change of venue, but that is impossible to get. Sen. James Buckley, though speaking with the best will in the world, has hurt him, and so have marginal characters who are now saying, without any hard evidence, that Barry Goldwater and other conservative Republicans "really" agree that it is the President's duty to resign.

The drip-drip-drip goes on: just because Nixon, who knows the law, doesn't rush to surrender requested tapes well in advance of deadlines decided upon by his adversaries, the idea is spread abroad that the White House considers itself above the law.

Thus we have 67 per cent of the respondents in a Harris Poll conducted between March 24 and 29 saying that Nixon will "withhold important information" from the Rodino House Judiciary Committee.

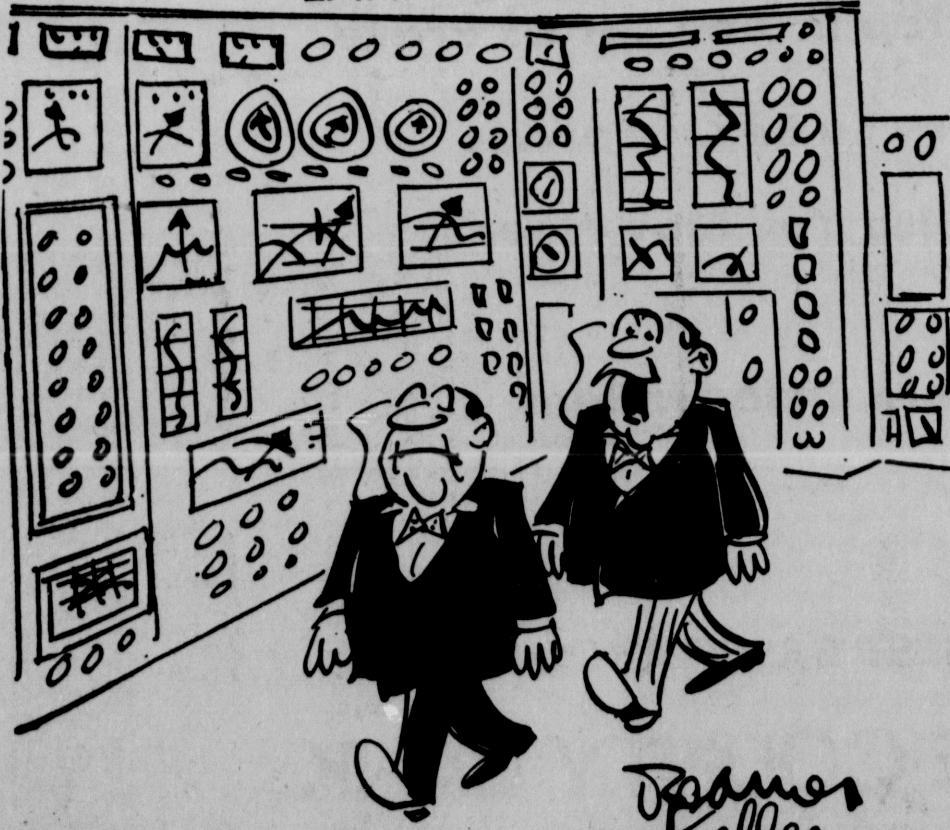

The 67 per cent cannot know that this will be the case. But they have made up their minds in advance of the evidence.

THE WORST prejudicial thing I have seen is a paperback book, Leonard Lurie's "The Impeachment of Richard Nixon," which is having a great sale at airport book racks. The book ends with a series of statements which, as I write this column, have not been substantiated by anyone connected with the various Washington hearings, if we except John Dean.

One witness is not proof. Nevertheless, Lurie says: "We have never before had a President who admitted authorizing burglary. . . . We have never had a President who tried to steal a national election."

When did Nixon admit authorizing burglary? I thought he had admitted authorizing the stopping of burglary. His underlings, the "plumbers," did many things they had no legal right to do if national security was not indeed involved, but what the Rodino com-

Jacob Wrestles an Angel

And Jacob was left alone; and there wrestled a man until the breaking of the day . . . and he . . . prevailed not against him.

—Genesis 32: 24-25

After Jacob and his family had left Haran to return to his native land, he was met by a host of God's angels, with whom he talked, asking them to let his brother Esau know that he was on his way home. In truth, he feared meeting Esau again, but it was the Lord's will, so he sent his retinue ahead and prayed. Alone, Jacob beheld a man, with whom he began to wrestle. In no time, he realized this was no ordinary man, thus must be an angel. After a match lasting all night, the angel ordered Jacob to let go, but Jacob refused without a blessing. His adversary not only blessed him but changed his name from Jacob to Israel.

Ohio Perspective

Nixon looked well, newsmen say

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Nixon looks healthier than he did in recent television appearances, Ohio Statehouse reporters covering his visit to tornado-stricken Xenia agreed last week.

The President's flying visit was his first to Ohio since the 1972 presidential campaign when he led a motorcade through northeast Ohio.

A veteran newsmen at Xenia said Nixon looked a little older and grayer, "like the rest of us."

But, reporters found his color good. He sported a moderate tan and seemed more confident than he is at one of the grinding news conferences that inevitably keep him occupied with Watergate and related problems.

James Lynn, Housing and Urban Development secretary, said Nixon sat silent and seemed depressed while viewing the devastation from helicopter and automobile.

"But his spirit quickly revived when he saw how the residents of this community were taking it," said Lynn.

Undoubtedly the 10-year-old grandson of Secretary of State Ted W. Brown echoed Nixon's wishes in a letter he wrote recently as an assignment at his Columbus school.

"Dear President Nixon, 'I think you know me. I'm Ted W. Brown's grandson. I what (sic) to thank you for the clips and the picture. 'And I hope the Watergate will stop. 'Your friend, Steve C. Rogers.'"

Prospects for approval of an Ohio abortion control bill this year are dim, say leaders and other members of the General Assembly.

Both chambers have approved their own versions of a bill, but they are substantially different, and the next move is up to the traditionally silent Senate Rules Committee.

The U.S. Supreme Court outlawed Ohio's old abortion law in 1973. That law prohibited abortions except when needed to save the life of the mother, and only then with the approval of two licensed physicians.

Despite 14 months the legislature has had to work on it, Ohio now has no controls—not even a way to determine how many abortion clinics there are in the state or how well they are run.

Legislators admit privately that some key lawmakers are "watching their flanks" this election year and see no need to go out on a limb with a strong stand.

In addition, lawyer-members are at odds over legal mechanics of a new set of controls.

The legislation, as a result, remains bottled up in the Rules Committee, which meets privately and has an unwritten agreement that members will not talk about each other's positions on the outside.

Media centers given aid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Each of Ohio's nine instructional media centers will get $50,000 to buy audio-visual materials, the state Department of Education announced Thursday.

Martin W. Essex, Ohio's education superintendent, said in a statement the extra money is aimed at making films and other materials available to teachers when they need them.

"Few school districts can afford their own film library," he said. "Through the media center in their region, teachers have a variety of audio-visual instructional materials available for every classroom subject."

The centers, which replaced the state film library, are in Wilmington, Marietta, Dayton, Elyria, Circleville, Warren, New Philadelphia, Bowling Green and Cleveland.

Report many still homeless from April 3 tornadoes

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Seven out of 10 tornado-stricken Ohio families eligible for temporary housing assistance from the federal government still don't have it, according to Dean Pieper, director of the U.S. Housing and Urban Development's disaster field team in Cincinnati. But Pieper said HUD has set May 31 as the deadline for finding housing for all Ohio families whose homes were destroyed by the April 3 tornadoes in Xenia and the Cincinnati area.

Housing for 406 families in the first two weeks after such a disaster "sets a record" for speed, Pieper said.

Pieper said at a Thursday news conference that the agency wanted to clarify any misunderstandings about HUD policy.

Pieper said HUD has 80 mobile homes at its staging area near Wilmington. At least 25 will be sent to the Saylor Park area of Cincinnati for temporary housing. A HUD announcement earlier in the day from Washington had ruled out use of mobile homes in Ohio.

Most of those whose homes were left uninhabitable by the storms are expected to be housed in rental homes or apartments, Pieper said.

Mobile homes will be used as a housing resource if rental property is not available near the victims' homes.

HUD said up to $3,000 would be available to home owners whose homes can be made livable with minor repairs.

He said many displaced families are living with relatives and have not applied for aid. People whose insurance pays for temporary housing are not eligible for federal aid.

Pieper answered criticism from some victims that red tape has delayed aid.

"There is always a degree of red tape," he said. "It is a near impossibility to . . . immediately house" all who need it.

He said a field staff will remain in operation for at least a year.

Penn Central strike ends

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Pickets were gone and operations were back to normal today at Penn Central freight yards in New Jersey, New York and the Midwest, a railroad spokesman said.

The picketing ended after the railroad's Pennsylvania Truck Lines and the Teamsters Union signed an agreement Thursday in Chicago in a jurisdictional dispute, the spokesman said.

About 125 clerks at piggyback rail-truck terminals in Port Newark, Weehawken, North Bergen and South Kearny, N.J.; New York; Chicago; St. Louis; Cincinnati and Columbus, Ohio; and Elkhart and Indianapolis, Ind., were resisting a company proposal to transfer them to another division. The transfer would have switched their union jurisdiction from the Teamsters to the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks. The railroad abandoned the transfer proposal Wednesday.

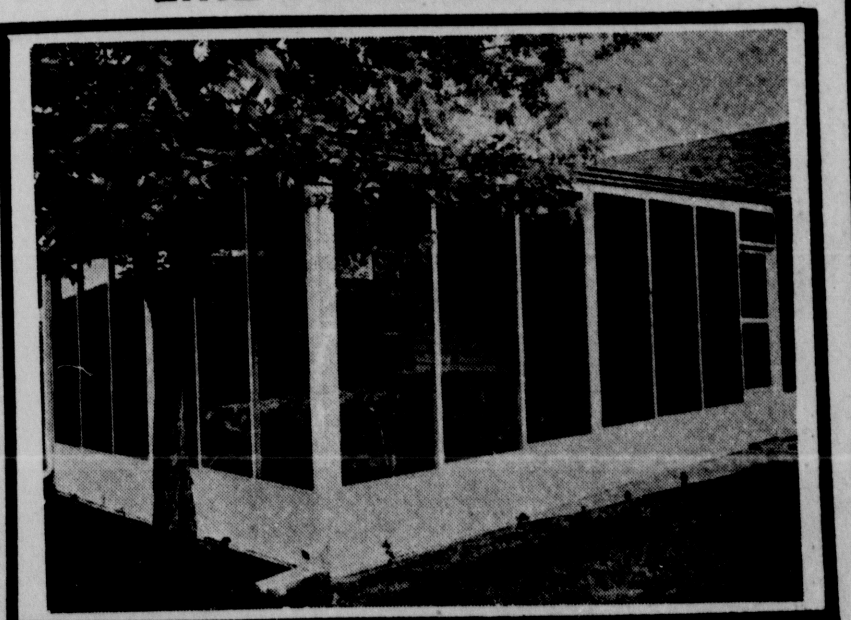

Picketing ended Thursday afternoon in the Midwest and about midnight in New Jersey and New York, the spokesman said.

Teamsters officials had said 90 per cent of the freight, including perishables, carried by Penn Central's rail-truck service had to be rerouted and was delayed several days.

Picketing began in the New York and New Jersey on April 1. It was halted by a court action until last week, when a U.S. District Court judge here lifted a temporary injunction against it.

A dessert course was served to 16 members.

Mrs. Robert Schwartz of Bloomingburg will be hostess for the next meeting, planned May 9, when a salad-smorgasbord will be featured. The group will complete the May Day Breakfast plans at this time.

Couple resides in Miamisburg

Miss Mary Carolyn Nungesser, daughter of Mr. W. N. Nungesser, 211 Sycamore St., became the bride of David Nichols Gerstner, son of Mrs. Mary Gerstner, 204 Ogle St., in a candlelight ceremony in Grace United Methodist Church. The Rev. Allen Puffenberger officiated at the doubling ceremony.

Mrs. Gene Hughes, organist, presented a variety of traditional and contemporary wedding selections which included A Time for Us, Bell Soliloquy, Evening Star, Liebestraum and to a Wild Rose. Selections presented by Mr. Ron Wilson, vocalist, were One Hand, One Heart and Color My World. He also sang the Wedding Prayer preceding the wedding ceremony.

The church was decorated with vases of Kilian daisies, green Fuji mums, white gladioli and heathen with lavender ribbons. Two seven-branch candelabra completed the setting.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a high neck organza gown with attached chapel train. The bodice, train, and front of the gown were trimmed with chantilly lace. There was a satin band and bow at the empire waist, as well as small satin-covered buttons on the bodice. She wore a chapel-length mantilla trimmed with chantilly lace and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, white carnations and stephanotis tied with showers of bridal peot ribbons.

Miss Tanya Malavich of Fairborn, maid of honor, wore a full length dress of light blue satin with blue and aqua floral overlay. Short puffed sleeves and round neckline were complimented with a white ivory necklace. A long satin ribbon accented the empire waist. Bridesmaids Mrs. Judy Kelley, Mrs. Brenda Hughes and Miss Cathy Newbrey, all of Washington C.H., wore dresses styled like the maid of honor, except the bodices were aqua. Each attendant carried a white basket of blue, aqua and green daisies and baby's breath with showers of white ribbon.

Serving as best man was Wayne McCoy of Washington C.H. Seating the wedding guests were David Cooper, Paul Wickenseimer and George Wilson, all formerly of Washington C.H.

Mrs. Gerstner, the groom's mother, wore a street-length aqua dress and jacket ensemble, and a white orchid at her shoulder.

Hostesses for the reception in Fellowship Hall following the ceremony were Miss Linda Peters and Mrs. Brenda Berner of Washington C.H., Mrs. Nancy Nungesser of Columbus and Miss Luanne Mehas of Hamilton. Misses Stephanie and Andrea Malavich of Fairborn presided at the guest book.

The bride's table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake trimmed with daisies in shades of aqua, blue and mint green, and topped by a bouquet of daisies and baby's breath.

25 YEARS OF SERVICE

See meat-market stability coming

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a year that began with price controls on meat and a consumer beef boycott, a top Agriculture Department livestock market expert is optimistic about meat-market stability both for grocery shoppers and cattlemen later this year.

And John Larsen of the Economic Research Service also agreed with an American National Cattlemen's Association statement that "one thing is certain... We continue to have a large supply of cattle. Beef should be plentiful for weeks to come."

Larsen's picture, in response to reporters' questions Thursday after the quarterly cattle-on-feed report, is one of as much beef in supermarkets this spring as last and "a net increase in total production" of both fed cattle and cattle that will go to slaughter on little or no grain.

The report itself said that one per cent more beef is expected to flow out of the feedlots during the April-June quarter than a year ago, when the boycott hit. That still would be 6 per cent below Spring 1972.

But he said, cattlemen have an incentive to stop holding off over-fattened grazing cattle now that grain prices are better than a year ago and the price of live cattle shows good signs of strengthening.

Larsen said his predictions are not drawn from the report, which also showed placement of cattle on feed down 12 per cent in the first quarter of this year but marketing down only 8 per cent.

Ohio U teacher wins Schwartz Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Stanley Plumly, an Ohio University teacher of creative writing, won the Delmore Schwartz Memorial Poetry Award of $1,000 on Thursday.

Phillip Mayerson, dean of New York University's College of Arts and Science, said the award was made for Plumly's first book of poems, "In the Outer Dark," published in 1970.

The award, in honor of an NYU graduate, is made annually to a poet who has published only one book but is thought by judges to be distinguished at the current stage of his development.

cent in a glutted market.

The report also contained figures illustrating the excess of heavy cattle in the feedlots: In the category of 1,100 pounds or more, the number on feed was 89 per cent higher than a year ago while all other weight categories were below 1973 levels.

Those figures were for the 23 largest beef states. For the seven largest,

Stiff fine imposed for trash-dumping

A Washington C.H. man who repeatedly had been found guilty of dumping trash on public and private property received a stiff fine and a suspended jail sentence in Municipal Court Thursday.

Judge Reed M. Winegardner fined Danny Hoagland, 33, of 834 Washington Ave., $500 and sentenced him to 30 days in jail. The jail term and $200 of the fine were suspended.

Audrey Hoagland, 31, who was with her husband when they were arrested by sheriff's deputies, was fined $250 and sentenced to 15 days in jail. Both her fine and jail sentence were suspended. She was seated in the front seat while her husband dumped trash from the rear of their vehicle near Hickory Lane, evidence indicated.

The conviction marked the fifth time in less than a year that Hoagland had been found guilty of illegally dumping trash, and the $300 fine imposed was more than his previous fines combined. It was Mrs. Hoagland's first arrest.

Afterwards Judge Winegardner said, "I've given him every break I could,

the county just can't put up with this any longer."

Richard L. Saxour, of New Holland, failed to appear and forfeited $25 bond on a charge of driving a motor vehicle in the Deer Creek Wildlife area where such vehicles are prohibited. He had been charged by conservation officers.

Rattlesnake Creek

Rattlesnake Creek enhance not only land use, but the productive capability of the land to enable us to feed ourselves domestically and worldwide," Urnston said.

A 40-minute slide presentation, which depicted water management problems, was shown by Peterson.

Jack Pavey, a representative of the Fayette County Fish and Game Association, said association members are willing to cooperate with the project and hope that fish population and wildlife habitat will be improved.

Economic factors involved following improved drainage in the area were presented by John R. Gruber, Fayette County agricultural Extension agent.

LAURENCE (BUCKY) DUMFORD, chairman of the Upper Paint Creek Watershed Steering Committee, spoke in favor of the project. "The productive capabilities of this land are critical to the food production of our country and provide for economic well-being of hundreds of farmers as well as guaranteeing a continued flow of cash into the related businesses," Dumford said.

Speaking for the Fayette County Board of Commissioners, J. Herbert Perrill, board chairman, said the commissioners hope for completion of the project and that they are not adverse in paying their share of the cost.

Other favorable comments were voiced by Lewis Overturf, chairman of the Madison County Board of Commissioners; Richard Davidson, representing the Fayette County Farm Bureau board of directors; Richard M. Carson, representing Fayette County Grange organizations; Oscar C. Hackney, of the Clinton County Board of Commissioners, and a number of district conservationists.

Russell C. Mills, area conservationist from Circleville, explained planning procedures for watershed projects.

The 200 guests were welcomed to the public hearing by William E. Stewart, Sabina mayor.

Hearing set in larceny by trick

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (AP)— A preliminary hearing is scheduled next Friday in Willoughby Municipal Court for Charles W. Kontra, who is charged with larceny by trick and obtaining money under false pretenses.

Kontra, 43, a former detective in the Lake County prosecutor's office, pleaded innocent Thursday and he was released on $20,000 bond set by Judge Richard Hoose.

He was arrested at his home in Wickliffe Wednesday night on a complaint by Mrs. Elaine Lewis, 43, of Willoughby.

Mrs. Lewis told police she paid Kontra $2,500 last October to fix a five-count traffic ticket, including driving while intoxicated, which she received in Willoughby Hills earlier that month.

She said the ticket never was fixed and that she wound up in court in January and paid $700 in fines and court costs.

We don't tell you it will if it won't

There are stores selling paint these days that will tell you just about anything to make the sale. And then the problems come. The paint doesn't do what you were told it would do.

Not so at our store. Paint is not a sideline with us. It's our bread and butter and we tell it like it is.

If a primer coat is needed... we'll tell you. If one-coat won't cover... we'll tell you. If latex paint (instead of an oil base type) is best to use... we'll tell you. If one gallon is all you need... we won't push for a two-gallon sale.

We guarantee you'll get the right paint at the right price and in the right amount. That's why seeing us is the right thing to do.

TV Viewing

by JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Frank McGee, the NBC newsman whose little-known fight against bone cancer ended in death this week, is being buried Sunday near Washington, Va., a small farming town 65 miles from the nation's capital.
McGee, 52, a polite, unassuming man, was eulogized Thursday on NBC's "Today" show, a program he joined in October 1971. The eulogies, however well-intended, seemed overdone. He'd probably have winced at them.
You rarely read much about him until his death Wednesday. He was an anomaly among top network anchor-men, for whom publicity machines work long and hard to get names known and news shows watched.
One felt he reluctantly went along with the drumbeating when called on to help publicize his TV projects. But he was neither an overt nor covert publicity hound. He simply was a journalist and a good one.
Although his fame stemmed back to the late 1950s, when he drew acclaim for his calm, penetrating coverage of the civil rights battles, it wasn't until one day in 1962 that I fully realized how good he was.

He was on the air, describing a tickertape parade for John Glenn, the first U.S. astronaut to orbit the earth, when a jetliner crashed on takeoff from Idlewild Airport, killing everyone aboard.

NBC covered both scenes live. And McGee, facing millions of viewers from a midtown studio, suddenly had to make the supremely difficult on-the-air transition from great triumph to great tragedy.

He did it repeatedly for several hours under tremendous pressure that would have sent lesser men to mental wards. He conveyed the sharply contrasting moods of airport horror and Broadway hurrahs with unfailing calmness and intelligence for which he was admired.

He continued working, even though in great pain, until April 11, when he checked into a hospital. It was there he died of pneumonia which his doctor said was brought on by a combination of both the cancer and the treatment that sought to arrest it.

Pantherettes tally 33 runs in error-filled win

BY LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor
Most teams committing 15 errors in a game would usually lose a game. Right? Wrong.
Miami Trace girls' softball squad had 15 miscues in their contest against Washington Senior High, Thursday afternoon. However, the Lionettes had 20 errors and the Pantherettes extended their perfect record to four games with a 33-13 slaughter.

SHADES OF JOE MORGAN — Pantherette second baseman Pam Henry makes the pivot, as she attempts to complete a double play.

What decided the game was the ability of the Pantherettes to take advantage of Washington's errors and come through with key hits in important situations. Miami Trace out-hit Washington 34-9 in the seven innings. In each inning, Miami Trace managed to send at least two runners across the plate. Seven runs in the third inning and eight runs in the fourth put the game well out of reach of the Lionettes' grasp. Washington did manage to score in every inning except the third.

Shortstop Pam Matson was the hitting star of the game for Miami Trace. Matson slammed out six hits, including a double and a home run, in seven trips to the plate. She also scored six runs.

Miami Trace's Debbie Morarity had four hits, including a double, and scored five times. Jerry Wilson tripled and homered, while Jeanette Anderson also homered.

Johnna Upthegrove had the only extra base hit for Washington. She tripled in the bottom of the fourth inning.

Jodie Hatfield was credited with the victory. Upthegrove suffered the loss. Miami Trace travels to Circleville next Tuesday.

Lion jr. high stops Tigers

Washington's junior high track squad gained revenge on Greenfield, Thursday evening, as the Lions defeated the Tigers in a dual meet, 68-41. The Tigers had edged the Lions 54-51 earlier in the season.

Top performances for the Lions were turned in by Jeff Elliott and Tracy Wilson.

Elliott had two individual first places and was a member of the winning 880 relay squad. Elliott won the discus with a toss of 83-2" and was clocked in 11.3 seconds in the 100. The 880 relay, consisting of Randy Hinkley, Greg Green, Gary Huysman and Elliott was timed in 1:52.

Wilson won the low hurdles in 18.0 seconds and the long jump with a leap of 16-5". He was second in the 100 and 880.

One school record was broken. In the three-quarter mile, both Jason Rummer and James Anders broke the school record of 4:18. Rummer won the race in 4:04.6.

Hank Aaron finally hit one...a single, that is.

"It's about time," the Atlanta superstar said Thursday night after getting his first non-home run hit of the baseball season.

Ralph Garr, meanwhile, was smacking everything in sight, getting three straight hits, driving in two runs and scoring twice to lead the Braves to a 7-2 victory over the San Diego Padres.

In Thursday's other National League games, St. Louis beat Philadelphia 6-2, Montreal downed the New York Mets 8-5, San Francisco defeated Houston 5-2 and the Chicago Cubs edged Pittsburgh 1-0. In the American League, the New York Yankees whipped Boston 6-1, Minnesota clipped California 3-2 and Baltimore's game at Detroit was rained out.

Braves 7, Padres 2

Aaron's only three hits going into Thursday night's games were, as if you hadn't heard, home runs, the 714th, 715th and 716th of his career. But in 21 other official at-bats, he hadn't managed so much as a single. Then, last Monday night, he hurt his shoulder making a throw. He'd been sidelined since then.

Against the Padres, he walked, struck out twice, then grounded a single up the middle, putting his average at .167.

"The shoulder hurts and I can't swing the bat," Aaron said. "It feels terrible and it keeps me from swinging freely."

Garr had gotten hits in his last four at-bats Wednesday night in a 6-1 loss to the Padres, then kept the streak going in his first three Thursday night.

He was so intent on making it eight in a row that he strode to the plate in the eighth inning without a batting helmet.

"I was just thinking about hitting the ball," he admitted sheepishly. "The umpire told me I'd forgotten the helmet, the fans told me...everybody was telling me." After he put it on, he grounded out.

It's been quite a turnaround for Garr, who went 0-for-16 at the start of the season but has hit at a 21-for-38 clip since then to put his average at .382.

Cards 6, Phils 2

Pitcher Lynn McGlothen's two-run double helped the Cards snap the Phils' six-game winning streak. He and Ron Schueler pitched scoreless ball through four innings before St. Louis took the lead on McGlothen's hit.

Bake McBride's sacrifice fly in the sixth gave the Cards the winning run and they added two in the eighth on Ken Reitz' single.

Cubs 1, Pirates 0

Chicago managed only an unearned run off Jim Rooker—but that's all the Cubs needed to send the Pirates tumbling down to their ninth setback in 11 games.

Rick Monday and Jerry Morales singled in the first inning, with Monday making it to third when second baseman Rennie Stennett committed an error on the throw in. Then Williams delivered a sacrifice fly.

From then on, Ken Frailing and Ray Burris did the job, scattering seven Pittsburgh hits.

Yanks 6, Red Sox 1

George "Doc" Medich stifled Boston on four hits—one of them Bernie

Jayvees lose again

Washington C.H. Blue Lion reserves lost their third game of the season to Greenfield Tiger jayvees by a score of 4-3. Dan Wisecup and Randy Gardner each went the distance for the Tigers and Lions, respectively, and made impressive showings.

Washington C.H. had men on base every inning except the final one but could not seem to get the clutch hit when they needed it. Greenfield, however, received a key hit, which turned out to be the winning blow, from shortstop Mark Cole.

Gardner pitched a good game, striking out six, walking just three and giving up nine hits. Wisecup set down seven Lion batters on strikes, issuing just three bases on balls and allowing only seven hits.

For the second game in a row, all of the Lions' seven hits were singles. The Lions play again next Tuesday at Miami Trace.

Major League roundup

Aaron slaps first single

Carbo's homer with two outs in the ninth inning—and rode New York's six-run sixth inning to an easy victory over the Red Sox.

Rick Wise, in his second American League start, had the Yankees stifled until the big sixth. Then Bobby Murcer singled, Ron Blomberg doubled, Graig Nettles hit a sacrifice fly and Duke Sims and Gene Michael doubled to make it 3-0.

Diego Segui replaced Wise, who walked Jim Mason and struck out Roy White before Mike Hegan capped the explosion with a three-run homer.

Twins 3, Angels 2

Steve Brye's three-run homer in the sixth inning carried Minnesota to victory and within a game of the first-place Angels in the AL West.

A walk to Joe Lis and a single by Eric Soderholm preceded Brye's shot over the left field wall off rookie Frank Tanana. California scored its runs in the seventh inning on a double by Bobby Valentine, a walk to Frank Robinson, Bob Oliver's single and Lee Stanton's grounder.

THE BETTER HALF

"Hand me one of those twenties you're sitting on."

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Use Head, Save Back

I have just begun a new job with the Sanitation Dept. It seems that everybody who has been there for any length of time either has a hernia or some kind of back problem.

We lift heavy things all day long. Is there any way that I can protect myself?

Mr. J.W., III.

Dear Mr. W.:

You are wise to give consideration to these occupational hazards.

Chronic low-back injuries often reflect the bad judgment of lifting weights that are beyond one's own capacity. The phrase "Use your head and save your back" has real medical validity.

There are some simple rules of lifting unusually heavy weights so that injury to the muscles of the back and the spine can be avoided.

If the weight seems greater than you can handle yourself don't show bravado. Get someone else to help you. If your back is injured you will have to call for help later, anyway.

When lifting, take a firm stance with the feet properly spread apart and directly face the weight to be lifted.

This is most important: bend knees and keep the back straight. Then, with a good grip on the load, lift it by straightening the legs.

Lift the weight slowly rather than with a sudden jerk. Keep the weight close to you and don't twist your body while lifting.

Most of the trouble occurs when young people try to display their strength and prowess by lifting an excessive weight. You already see around you the results of improper weight lifting.

A good supporting belt of canvas or elastic can help prevent the incapacitation of hernias and back strain.

More and more organizations are using mechanical lifts so that workers do not have to pay the penalty of pain and incapacitation.

Is it dangerous to use X-ray treatment for bursitis of the shoulder?

Mr. B.L., Tenn.

Dear Mr. L.:

Small, nonharmful doses of X-ray have for many years been used to relieve the pain and the swelling of shoulder bursitis.

This technique, still in use, has probably given way to simpler forms of treatment, such as rest to the shoulder and injections of local anesthetics and cortisone.

You can be certain that if your doctor prescribed it, it is perfectly safe.

Drills studded with hundreds of coarse diamonds are preferred for boring oil wells, because the bits do not have to be drawn up thousands of feet for frequent replacement.

Youth Activities

AMBITIOUS FARMERS 4-H

Chris and Jeff Schlichter started the meeting of the Ambitious Farmers 4-H Club by leading the club members in the pledges. Attendance was checked before the main importance of the meeting had begun.

Officers for the year were elected and they are Kevin DeMent, president; Connie Hughes, vice president; Susan Coe, secretary; Debbie Bowsher, news reporter; Jimette Cornell, treasurer; Terry Hoppes and Beth Jenks safety and health leaders; and Sandy Hughes and Craig DeMent, recreation.

It was decided among members that all seniors will be program leaders. In the future, we hope to have many interesting speakers.

A judging contest was announced. Clark Coe, adviser, told of the livestock rules changed since last year.

The next meeting will be in the Jeffersonville Elementary School.

Debbie Bowsher, reporter

BUSY BEES 4-H

Julia Blake opened the Busy Bees 4-H Club meeting and Jenny Martin led the pledges. Lana McCoy took roll call and all answered by what we thought we deserved in our Easter baskets, if we paid our dues. Lana read the minutes of the last meeting, and Jenny Martin gave the treasurer's report.

Jill Dorn gave the safety report on "Safety Outside." Rita Berwanger gave a citizenship report.

We discussed the Mother's Tea. Jill Dorn told the group that the DP&L auditorium was available for this event. We decided that the last two meetings would be held in the afternoon.

Demonstrations were made by Jenny Martin and Becky Merriman on items for a sewing box, and Lisa Jackson had made a lamb shaped popcorn cake decorated with jelly beans, green coconut and marshmallows. She showed all how to make one.

Cindy Wieland will be hostess for the next meeting.

Becky Merriman, reporter

LADS AND LASSIES

The meeting of the Livestock Lads and Lassies 4-H Club was called to order by Keith Holbrook. The pledges were led by Beth Chaney. Old and new business was discussed. A health report on "Alcohol" was made. Parents were thanked for being present and participating in the recreation. Randy Keiser and Beth Chaney closed the meeting.

Refreshments were served by the advisers. The next meeting will be a tour of Girtton Locker Plant and members will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday.

Dessert Smorgasbord turnout tops 300

FOOD AND THOUGHT — The tenth annual Dessert Smorgasbord sponsored by the Fayette County Unit of the American Cancer Society was presented Thursday night at the Mahan building to some 300 people. After the goodies, David H. Greigor, M.D., expounded upon his research tags off their dresses; those are name tags.

concerning rectal and colon cancer which is the biggest cancer killer next to lung cancer. A free checkup for all interested people is scheduled at the Medical Arts building on April 28. In case you're wondering, the women in the picture getting dessert, did not forget to take their price

Nearly 300 people of all ages attended the tenth annual dessert smorgasbord sponsored by Fayette County chapter of the American Cancer Society in the Mahan Building Thursday night. Guest speaker was Dr. David M. Greigor, who did much to pioneer the research in colon cancer detection. Dr. Greigor, a 1941 graduate of Ohio State University's College of Medicine, specializes in internal medicine and is associated with Mount Carmel Hospital. He spoke about the 100,000 new cases of colon cancer which will develop this year. "Colon cancer is the biggest killer next to lung cancer," Dr. Greigor stated, "and if we can detect it, we can stop it."

EVERY ADULT in Fayette County will receive the chance to stop it, April 28. Tests for colon and rectal cancer will be sponsored by the Fayette County Unit of the American Cancer Society in the Medical Arts building, 616 Willard St., from 1:30 p.m. through 4:30 p.m. on that Sunday. Washington C.H. physicians will administer the tests which are painless and free and will take about five minutes.

Dr. Byers W. Shaw, project chairman and the man responsible for arranging Dr. Greigor's appearance, said participating physicians are expecting about 400 persons to attend. Twelve rooms will be available for testing and physicians expect to test 120 patients per hour. Men and women over 40 years of age are especially asked to attend the test, but anyone of any age is welcome. Each participant will receive a kit and complete instructions, with which to take samples at home. Sunday, April 21, is another "red-letter" day for the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society. On this date, volunteers will be crusading for contributions to be used in cancer research, education and service.

A Canal Winchester woman was charged by city police at 5:17 p.m. after an accident. Rebecca H. Ridgeway, 51, struck a car driven by Barbara E. Evans, 22, of 704 Church St., at the intersection of North and Courts streets. Police cited the former with changing course.

Three fires cause only minor damage

A truck owned by Redman Industries, 2000 Kenskill Ave., caught fire while undergoing repairs at Wilson's Garage, U.S. 22-E, at 3:14 p.m. Thursday. Washington C.H. firemen were summoned to the scene, but the blaze had been extinguished. Firemen explained the fire started when the truck backfired through the carburetor. There was no damage. A shed caught fire on the Ralph Marcy farm, Cook-Yankee town Rd., Madison Township, at 7:31 p.m. Thursday, the Sheriff's Department reported. Apparently some boys had set fire to an outhouse which was to be burned down, but the shed also caught fire. A gas leak caused a tractor to blaze up on the Payton farm, Wentz Rd., at 9:47 a.m. today. Sgt. John Emrick of the Sheriff's Department, who was at the scene, reported no damage. The Jeffersonville Fire Department was summoned, but the fire was out upon their arrival.

FBI probes slaying during raid

KENT, Ohio (AP)—The shooting death of a Kent State University student by a narcotics agent during a raid March 6 is being investigated by the FBI. Ann Fry, co-chairman of the Kent State Student Union, said the federal investigation was requested by the union and the Portage County chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union separately. She said the requests were made after the Portage County grand jury ruled March 27 that the death of Gary T. Sherman of Alliance was justifiable. The FBI said Thursday it started the investigation about a week ago. Sherman, 21, was killed by an agent with the multicounty MAT narcotics unit during a raid in Rootstown Township south of Kent. MAT, which stands for Mahoning, Ashtabula and Trumbull counties, contracted to serve Portage County. A MAT official said the agent fired at Sherman when the student made a sudden move with his hands toward his belt. Portage County Prosecutor Ronald Kane said the shooting was investigated thoroughly by his office. He said he didn't know "what possibly could have been left untouched." Hospital treats boy after dog attacks him A Rt. 5 boy who got too close to a chained dog suffered multiple dog bites at 6:30 p.m. Thursday. Mideast air fight explodes

By The Associated Press
Syria claimed its missiles brought down seven Israeli warplanes today in rapidly escalating fighting for key positions on Mt. Hermon and along the Golan Heights truce line, but Israel denied it.

Control of Mt. Hermon is sought by both sides because its 9,200-foot peak commands a view for miles into Lebanon, Israel and Syria, and possession could be used as a trading point in disengagement negotiations. A Syrian communique said the downed Israeli planes were seen falling into Israeli-held territory on onto Mt. Hermon itself.

An Israeli military spokesman said "all our planes returned safely."

Syria also claimed that Israeli planes had bombed their own positions "inflicting casualties on their own troops" at Tel Al Arayess in the Golan Heights during confusion created by the Syrian missile attack. Israel called the claims "nonsense."

The spokesman confirmed that SAM missiles had been fired at the Israeli planes, but said he could not confirm or deny that ground to ground missiles were employed.

The Israeli jets struck at Syrian targets on the 9,200-foot peak and on the southern Golan front, a communique said.

Israel's air action apparently was triggered when Syria shelled the Mt. Hermon defenders and Israelis on the southern bulge.

Syrian communiques said ground fighting raged through the night and at this morning "the clashes spread to many areas of the front" involving tanks, artillery and ground to ground missiles.

The action brought to 11 the number of Israeli jets Syria claims to have downed in the last two weeks.

The Israeli air force made its fourth attack of the week earlier Thursday, hitting at Syrian positions around Mt. Hermon. The Syrian military command claimed its missiles brought down one F4 Phantom, but Israel said all its planes made it home safely.

In Washington, President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger held a surprise meeting with Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy.

High-ranking American officials said the session was to inform Egypt of continuing American efforts to arrange an agreement disengaging the Syrian and Israeli forces on the Golan Heights. They said it was not concerned with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's announcement Thursday that he was shopping in the West for the advanced missiles and planes the Soviet Union refuses to sell Egypt.

Sadat told the National Assembly in Cairo the Soviet Union had hesitated for six months on Egyptian arms requests. He did not name his new prospective suppliers, but there was speculation he would buy from France or would get Saudi Arabia or Kuwait to transfer arms sold them by some of the Western powers.

Seize ship with load of hashish

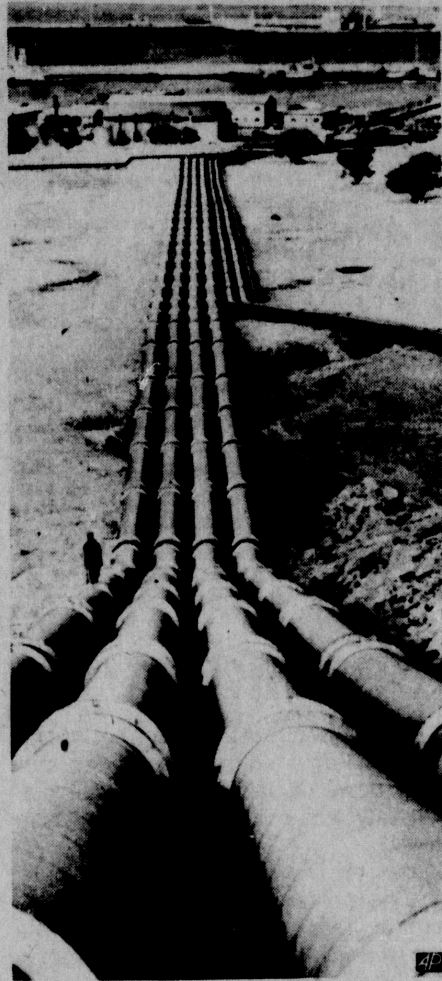

MIAMI (AP) — A search of a disabled freighter towed into Bahamian waters by a U.S. Coast Guard cutter has resulted in the largest seizure of hashish ever made in the Western Hemisphere, U.S. drug officials say.

Six men aboard the ship, all Americans, were arrested and 3,700 pounds of the marijuana-derivative were seized, the officials said Thursday. They placed a value of $15.5 million on the hashish.

The boarding of the 150-foot Sea Trader took place last Friday but the announcement of the seizure was not made until Thursday.

John H. Moseley, director of the Drug Enforcement Administration's Miami office, said American and Bahamian authorities cooperated in the boarding, seizure and arrests.

Moseley said the ship, the Sea Trader, became disabled in the Atlantic 800 miles off the Florida coast and was towed by the Cutter Gallatin to a point 60 miles northwest of Nassau, where it was boarded.

Marines on Cyprus

DHEKELIA BASE, Cyprus (AP)—The American helicopter carrier Iwo Jima began putting her detachment of United States Marines ashore today in preparation for sailing to the Suez Canal.

An advance party of Marines arrived at this British base in southeast Cyprus where a total of 300 Marines are to be stationed. They are the first American troops to be based on this island in the eastern Mediterranean, and their coming has been severely criticized by Greek Cypriot papers on both the extreme right and the extreme left.

Perk seek Guard aid

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Mayor Ralph J. Perk said Thursday night if the city's mounting piles of uncollected garbage become a serious health hazard he may ask Gov. John J. Gilligan to call out the Ohio National Guard to help during the city truck drivers' strike.

Perk said he planned to call the governor today for preliminary discussions on deploying guard troops, possibly Monday.

The strike is in its fifth day, with no indication when the members of Teamsters Local 244 will return to work.

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The percentage of Americans who want large families has declined steeply since 1968 and is at its lowest point in 38 years, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

Saxbe endangering SLA prosecution?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the American Bar Association says Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe may have endangered the prosecution of Symbionese Liberation Army members charged with a San Francisco bank robbery.

ABA chief Chesterfield Smith said Saxbe also may have threatened the prosecution of Patricia Hearst if it turns out that criminal charges are brought against her.

In an interview Thursday, Smith was questioned about the legal implications of Saxbe's statement on Wednesday labeling the SLA and Miss Hearst as a group of "common criminals" and Miss Hearst as a willing participant in Monday's robbery.

The FBI has issued a warrant for Miss Hearst as a material witness to the robbery and filed bank robbery charges against four others identified as previously associated with the SLA.

The SLA claims it seized Miss Hearst, daughter of newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst, from her apartment on Feb. 4.

As criticism mounted, Saxbe said through a Justice Department spokesman he stands by his statements and has "nothing to add."

"The potentials for prejudice can only be weighed when you're trying to impanel an impartial jury," Smith said. "I would not be surprised if an ingenious defense attorney on the proper occasion would raise it as some type of evidence that she could not get a fair trial because of these statements."

Smith said the prejudicial impact would depend on whether Saxbe's statements were widely read in the area from which a jury is drawn.

"But certainly if everybody saw it and everybody was aware of it, there is

Americans can't keep up, official says

Price spiral to continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sharply higher food prices and a record jump in industrial prices pushed the cost of living up 1.1 per cent in March as the worst inflation in a quarter century held its grip on the economy, the government reported today.

The Labor Department said last month's rise sent consumer prices 10.2 per cent higher than a year ago, the most in any 12-month period since an identical rise in 1948.

For the first quarter of 1974, consumer prices rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 14.5 per cent, highest in any three-month period since the first quarter of 1951 during the Korean War.

The gloomy economic report was the second in two days. The Commerce Department reported Thursday that the Gross National Product — the nation's total output of goods and services — fell at a 5.8 per cent annual rate, the first decline in three years and the biggest drop in 16 years.

Although the Nixon administration says it expects the economy to turn around in the second half of the year, some government analysts predict the next three months will be as bad or worse than the inflation for the first three months of the year.

With inflation continuing unabated, the Labor Department said buying power of American workers fell nine-tenths of 1 per cent in March to a level 4.7 per cent below a year ago. It marked the biggest annual decline since the government began keeping that statistic in 1964.

Sidney L. Jones, assistant commerce secretary for economic affairs, also said inflation must be brought under control before the country can fully recover from its current economic slowdown.

The Commerce Department reported the first quarter inflation rate — the worst since 1951 — in its report Thursday on the country's Gross National Product, the measure of value of the nation's output of goods and services.

The report also showed the economy during the first quarter declined at a 5.8 per cent annual rate, the first economic decline in three years and the biggest drop in 16 years.

The Labor Department was scheduled to release today figures on the increase in consumer prices during March.

Jones said at a news briefing that the country is "seeing the very brutal impact of inflation on the ability of the economy to grow."

He said inflation is increasing prices so fast that Americans can't keep up, and that consumer purchases have declined as a result.

Jones said the economic slowdown should level out in the second quarter and the economy probably will resume growth after mid-year. But he said unemployment probably will increase during the year to near 6 per cent.

There was apparent disagreement between Jones and the President's Council of Economic Advisers over the cause and extent of the slowdown.

Another twister was spotted near Stockton, Calif., but there were no reports of damage or injuries. Flooding continued on some rivers in Mississippi and Alabama still aggravated by heavy rains of one week ago. The Pearl River at Bogalusa, La., crested Wednesday night at a record level of 10 feet above flood stage.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 15 at Sawyer Air Force Base, Mich., to 76 at Key West, Fla.

Big names enter Ohio political scene

By The Associated Press
Big name political supporters were the main dishes at side-by-side fund raising dinners for Ohio's two hotly campaigning Democratic U.S. Senate candidates Thursday night in Cleveland.

Gov. John J. Gilligan and U.S. Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., were on hand to praise U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, at a $100-a-plate dinner at the Sheraton-Cleveland Hotel.

A few miles away, pro football player Rosie Greer helped dish out corned beef and cabbage at a 99-cent dinner at the Flat Iron Cafe for former astronaut John H. Glenn.

"When I say to you I'm absolutely confident in the man I appointed a few months ago, I mean it," Gilligan told a crowd of about 1,000. "If I had to do it all over again I couldn't have picked a better man."

Glenn's supporters, estimated at about 500, overflowed the tiny river-front cafe and spilled out into the parking lot where many ate dinner in a tent on the back of a truck.

At one point Glenn climbed on a table but said he wasn't going to make a speech because it was all "just for fun."

Stevenson told Metzenbaum followers he was there because he felt it is important to keep Metzenbaum in the Senate. He said it is the only primary contest in which he's taken sides.

A candidate for governor, James Nolan, attended the Glenn dinner where he said he celebrated his 52nd birthday.

He also used the occasion to blast his Democratic opponent in the primary, Gov. Gilligan, for his operation of the Department of Public Welfare.

Earlier subpoenas issued by the prosecutor's office had sought information for the grand jury rather than for a trial. One of these was upheld by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals here and led to the firing of original prosecutor Archibald Cox when he refused to halt the subpoena process. Wet weather splashes U.S.

By The Associated Press
Showers and thunderstorms splashed over the mid-Mississippi Valley, across the Ohio Valley and into New England today and near-freezing temperatures frosted the upper Great Lakes region.

Freeze or frost warnings were posted for Michigan's Lower Peninsula as temperatures tumbled into the 30s from Minnesota to Maine. Readings in the teens stung Upper Michigan.

A few showers were scattered over Texas and Arkansas. Most rainfall was below half an inch, but San Antonio measured over an inch before dawn.

A new storm system formed in the Plateau and northern California today, moving into the Rockies. Stockmen's advisories were posted from the central Plateau into the upper Rockies for tonight. Colorado was alerted to a winter storm watch for tonight through Saturday.

High winds stirred up sand in the Southern California mountains and deserts, making traveling hazardous.

A tornado was sighted near Big Spring, Tex., Thursday afternoon. Hailstones the size of golfballs hit the ground at San Antonio and Alice, Tex. A mobile home was overturned near Edinburg, Tex. No injuries were reported.

Jones agreed that the decline in auto output was a major factor, along with a

DeMarco not handling Nixon taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank DeMarco, the attorney under investigation for his role in preparing President Nixon's contested tax returns, says his law firm still is handling business for Nixon but isn't directly responsible for his current tax return.

He said his firm continues to handle local property matters for Nixon, presumably concerning the President's San Clemente estate.

DeMarco's actions in preparing Nixon's tax returns for 1969-72 were examined by the Internal Revenue Service and a congressional committee as part of their review of the President's taxes. After their findings, Nixon agreed to pay $432,787 in back taxes, plus interest.

Informed sources now say the IRS has referred the questions about the preparation of the returns, including DeMarco's role, to the Watergate special prosecutor. DeMarco said he has not been contacted by anyone on the special prosecution force.

DeMarco commented from his Los Angeles office in response to questions asked by telephone through his secretary, who relayed the answers.

DeMarco had signed Nixon's tax returns as preparer along with Arthur Blech, a Los Angeles accountant.

The White House has refused to comment on who is preparing the return for 1973. Blech said recently the White House had obtained an extension of the normal April 15 filing deadline.

U.S. vulnerable to embargo, Sawhill says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Future energy chief John C. Sawhill warns that the nation will remain "just as vulnerable, probably more so" to an Arab oil embargo for the next few years as it was last winter.

Sawhill told reporters Thursday that if the Arab nations cut off oil shipments to the United States again, "we would have to go to more drastic measures to reduce demand, but it might still be possible to stop short of coupon rationing."

Designated Wednesday to head the Federal Energy Office when its present administrator, William E. Simon, becomes Treasury secretary, Sawhill said he plans to push hard for energy conservation as the only practical way to reduce U.S. dependence on foreign oil for the next two or three years at least.

The aim, he said, is to enable the nation "to absorb any realistically foreseeable oil cutoff" without being forced into more far-reaching policy changes.

This also was the ultimate aim of President Nixon's "Project Independence," the drive for U.S. energy self-sufficiency by 1980.

"I don't think self-sufficiency means zero imports of oil," Sawhill said. "I think we will be importing some oil in 1980 and probably some uranium."

"But I think we want to be in such a position that no country or group of countries can dictate our policy..."

"At this point, we are probably too vulnerable to a cut-off and we were headed toward even greater vulnerability and toward greater dependence on two oil-producing countries, Iran and Saudi Arabia," he said.

Economic need cornerstone of U.S. disaster relief bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican congressman says a test to show economic need is a key concept in efforts by Congress and the Nixon administration to settle on terms of new legislation for helping disaster victims.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, whose district includes tornado-torn Xenia, Ohio, said Thursday his "consistent position" has been one of opposition to the concept of disaster loan "forgiveness" features. Brown said he feels disaster victims would "rather have honest help than some kind of a dole."

When President Nixon vetoed a 1973 bill aimed at liberalizing the disaster loan program, he told Congress this measure would have provided "federal subsidized loans and grants to all disaster victims regardless of economic need."

Nixon argued that a "wealthy landowner, who could provide for himself through insurance or could easily obtain a private loan, should not be entitled to a $2,500 free grant from the government and an additional loan at only 3 per cent interest."

This was the so-called "forgiveness"

AMID THE VAST EXPANSE — Seemingly lost in the desert, construction consultants and members of the Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors' Club stood in the vast expanse of what will soon be a K-Mart discount store. On hand for the formal groundbreaking were John McGill (with shovel) of Developers Diversified, project coordinators, and Don Stewart, to his right, of Ruxcilli Construction Co. The plans call for a 40,000-square-foot store, and parking for nearly 300 cars to be in operation sometime in October. The firm has options on the adjoining property and hopes to develop a small shopping center in the future.

U.S. car firms' subsidiaries to send vehicles to Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Big Three U.S. automakers will soon begin sending cars and trucks to Cuba from their Argentine subsidiaries under an historic decision announced by the State Department.

After five months of indecision, the State Department announced Thursday night approval of export licenses filed by Ford, Chrysler and General Motors Corp., despite hemispheric restrictions on sales to Cuba.

Auto industry sources estimated the transaction will total some $150 million.

The only American automobiles left in Cuba are those of the tail-fin era of the late 1950s — before U.S.-Cuban relations soured.

State Department officials said they made an exception for the Big Three because "we did not want to see the companies suffer as a result of U.S. policy."

Argentina, which unilaterally violated the embargo last year, claimed the State Department had no right to impede a sale by firms incorporated under Argentine law.

The U.S. decision was announced after the end of a Western Hemisphere foreign ministers' meeting which received a message relayed here by Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Through Mexican Foreign Minister Emilio Rabasa, Castro passed word he is agreeable to a partial re-entry into the inter-American system after a 12-year absence.

Rabasa said he received last month personal assurances from Castro that Cuba is prepared to play a "positive nonobstructionist" but restricted role in hemispheric affairs.

Cuba, excluded from the Organization of American States in 1962, has no interest in rejoining but would not be adverse to sending a representative to a non-OAS hemisphere meeting scheduled for next March in Buenos Aires.

The ministers agreed that an invitation will be extended if all nations accept or at least tolerate Cuba's presence at the meeting.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was noncommittal about the plan but several of Latin America's right-wing military dictatorships voiced opposition, diplomats said.

Boyle attorney files motion for new trial

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A new attorney for W.A. "Tony" Boyle, the former United Mine Workers boss convicted in the slaying of union rival Joseph Yablonski, has filed for another trial.

Boyle was convicted April 11 on three counts of first-degree murder in the slayings of Yablonski, his wife and daughter.

Philadelphia attorney A. Charles Peruto said Thursday he was retained by Boyle's family earlier this week. Boyle had been represented at his trial by Montana lawyer Charles F. Moses.

Peruto said his motion is based on grounds that the guilty verdict was contrary to the evidence presented. Under Pennsylvania law, a motion for a new trial must be filed and acted upon before an appeal can be filed.

Scenic waterway plans are fought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Franklin County Court of Common Pleas has been asked to halt plans to declare a 53-mile stretch of Big Darby a scenic waterway.

City of Columbus officials argued Thursday that plans finalized in 1966 call for a dam and a reservoir on the creek to meet the city's water needs.

Designation of the creek as a scenic waterway, proposed by the state Department of Natural Resources Feb. 6, could jeopardize those plans, officials said.

A cool front pushed across Ohio overnight, bringing an end to the warm temperatures of Thursday.

Most of the state had readings in the 60s Thursday, ranging from 55 at Cleveland Burke Lakefront Airport to 69 in Cincinnati. Cloudy skies and cooler temperatures moved into the state during the night, pushing temperatures down to the 30s north to around 50 along the Ohio River.

There was some light rain along with the drop in temperatures, ranging from a trace to .18 inch in Toledo.

Northern Ohio was to see some clearing today, while cloudy skies were to persist in the south. Highs were to reach the 50s north to the 60s south.

A freeze warning was in effect for northern Ohio tonight, with lows around 30 north to the 40s south.

Cloudiness was expected to cover the state Saturday in advance of a low pressure system moving in from the west.

A chance of showers Sunday and Monday, followed by clearing skies Tuesday. Highs Sunday in the 70s and low 80s and in the 60s Monday and Tuesday. Lows in the 50s.

OSU dental college loses federal aid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University's College of Dentistry reports it is losing vast sums of federal money at the same time its student enrollment is on the rise.

Dean John R. Wilson said the school is losing about $50,000 in research money this year, and in the upcoming fiscal year expects another $700,000 in federal funds to be cut.

Still another half million dollars will be trimmed from federal grants in 1976-77, he said.

The Congress has chosen to begin phasing out its health care grants at a time when the school is experiencing its greatest enrollment, Wilson said.

Before the school worked to build its 678 student body to 800, Wilson said, but now that many students could be troublesome.

As a result of the cuts, Wilson said cavity and cancer research probably will be halted.

He was pessimistic about the possibility of extra funds from the state legislature or renewed appropriations from Congress.

He said the school would continue to appeal to its alumni to bail it out of the crunch.

Twister victims found housing

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Homeless Ohio tornado victims are being housed in apartments and homes in the private market whenever possible, the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration field office said Thursday.

Mobile homes are used only when private dwellings are not available within reasonable commuting distance, the FDAA said.

Damaged homes are being repaired, provided the cost doesn't exceed $3,000, it added.

Nearly 30 per cent of the victims of the April 3 tornadoes have been provided temporary housing, FDAA said.

Officials said the government's obligation to rehouse applicants ends when relocation is refused.

Auto earnings to be worst in 10 years

DETROIT (AP) — Stock market analysts predict the Big Three auto makers collectively will report their worst first-quarter profits in more than a decade.

The analysts say January-through-March earnings for General Motors, Ford and Chrysler will range from very poor to terrible because of a severe sales slump coming on the heels of a banner year in 1973.

The automakers will release their January-March operating results in 10 days.

"Stinking sales," said auto analyst Robert Williams of Argus Research Corp., in New York, as he explained the expected poor performance of the three firms.

Sales are down more than 27 per cent from last year, and production has fallen 34 per cent, forcing the layoff of more than 107,000 workers.

General Motors, the industry's No. 1 producer, is expected to be the biggest loser. GM's sales during the quarter

Stock prices fall sharply

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, confronted by a steady stream of bad news on inflation and interest rates, fell back sharply in light trading today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 9.00 at 860.92, and declining issues swamped gainers by close to a 3-1 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Among the negative influences listed by analysts were the spread of a record-setting 10 1/2 per cent prime lending rate through the banking industry, and a government official's prediction that inflation in the second quarter might be at least as bad as it was in the first.

Coastal States Gas was the Big Board volume leader, up 1/4 at 8 1/2 in trading that included a 171,000-share block at 7 3/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .52 at 94.90.

Other Big Board issues on the active list included Weyerhaeuser, down 1 1/4 at 44 1/4.

9 steel firms named in suit on price fix

HOUSTON (AP) — Nine steel companies were accused Thursday by the state of Texas of price fixing in the sale of reinforcing steel.

The federal court civil action alleges violation of antitrust laws and seeks damages of "at least tens of millions of dollars."

A similar civil and criminal action filed earlier by the federal government named the same defendants.

Named defendants were United States Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Arco Steel, Border Steel Rolling Mills, Inc., of El Paso, the Ceco Corp. of Chicago, Laclede Steel Co. of St. Louis, Schindler Bros. Steel of Sealy, Structural Metals, Inc., of Seguin, and Texas Steel Co. of Fort Worth.

The state suit alleges the defendants have conspired since 1969 to fix prices through "rigged and collusive bids."

The petition says the Texas Highway Department alone in 1971 purchased 86,000 tons of reinforcing steel from the defendant firms.

The court was asked to require that defendant firms owning both mills and fabricating facilities be ordered to divest themselves of the fabricating facilities so as to permit open competition in the sale and distribution of reinforcing steel materials in Texas.

Hill said the reinforcing bar sales under the allegedly illegal arrangement among the companies totaled more than $20 million in 1971 alone.

The suit alleges that beginning in 1969 the firms agreed to divide the market among them and collude in the rigging of bids.

Bomber gets prison term

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Karleton Armstrong has been sentenced to 10 years in prison on multiple federal charges in connection with a bombing at the University of Wisconsin and an attempted bombing at munitions plant in nearby Baraboo.

The university blast killed one man. Armstrong, 27, is already serving a 23-year state sentence for murder and arson. The 10-year sentence was imposed Thursday by U.S. District Court Judge James Doyle.

Both incidents took place in 1970. The university blast severely damaged Sterling Hall and killed a physics researcher, Robert Fassnacht, 33.

Armstrong had said the bombing was an attempt to end the war in Vietnam. He called it a political act, rather than a criminal act.

Still sought for the university bombing are Armstrong's younger brother, Dwight; Leo Burt, Havertown, Pa.; and David S. Fine, Wilmington, Del.

Mariner falters

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 10 should still be able to make a return visit to Mercury next fall despite a failure of equipment that sends data on the spacecraft back to earth, say mission spokesmen.

Information collected by Mariner's scientific instruments and cameras can still be beamed to receivers on earth, spokesmen at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

The failure was the second major electrical problem aboard the 1,100-pound space voyager since it flew past Mercury March 29 and sent back man's first close-up photos of the planet's surface.

State loses major strip mine suit

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—After an epic battle between conservationists and coal companies, the Ohio Division of Reclamation has lost a major test of the state's ability to enforce the tough coal strip mining laws of 1972. A coal company has won the right to stripmine a hill which residents of the tiny Belmont County community of Crescent fear could wipe out their town with landslides and water unleashed from abandoned deep mines.

The Plain Dealer has learned that the Strip Mine Reclamation Board of Review has overruled a decision by Raymond B. Lowrie, state reclamation chief, who had refused to grant a strip mine license to Andrew Massimino, owner-operator of the Joyce Coal Co. of St. Clairsville.

The vote was reported to be 4-1, with one member of the board abstaining. Although the review board will not announce its decision for several days, The Plain Dealer learned that the board granted Massimino's appeal and will order Lowrie to grant a license for the Joyce Coal Co. to strip 2.9 acres on the slopes of the steep hill.

The unincorporated village of Crescent, with a population of about 75, lies at the foot of the hill four miles northeast of St. Clairsville.

Belmont County is Ohio's hottest strip mining area.

Lowrie said Thursday he had not been notified of the board's decision and declined comment. He said his department would have 30 days to appeal a ruling to Franklin County Common Pleas Court in Columbus.

Massimino could not be reached for comment. However, his lawyer, Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, said, "There is no danger whatsoever to the people of Crescent; that has been testified to by experts."

Alexander said the community is too far from the site to be damaged "even if the whole hill collapses."

He said also the area would be "beautified" by Massimino's reclamation work after the coal is brought out.

The board heard testimony last month from state and federal experts and coal company representatives.

Sohio says more gasoline available

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) had good news this week for motorists as well as for company shareholders.

Sohio Chairman Charles Spahr said Thursday the amount of gasoline available to motorists was increased this week by about 11 million gallons.

Spahr said that is about 10 per cent more than had been scheduled for this month.

The supplies were increased, Spahr said, "because indications are that Sohio's crude oil supply situation may improve in May and possibly several months following."

Profits jumped 29 per cent in the first quarter compared with the first three months of 1973, Spahr reported.

The first quarter earnings total was $22.6 million, or 62 cents a share, compared with $17.5 million, or 48 cents, for the corresponding 1973 period.

The per-share figures were adjusted to reflect a two-for-one stock split last Nov. 16.

Revenues totaled $482.9 million, up 27 per cent from the 1973 first quarter revenues of $379.7 million.

Spahr said the gain resulted from increased royalties, reduced interest expense and "improvements in all major operating areas except domestic petroleum."

The Sohio chairman said the drop in domestic petroleum earnings was "sharp" but was partially offset by improved results of coal and chemical operations.

Patricia Hearst references found in SLA notebook

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three weeks before Patricia Hearst was abducted, police found a Symbionese Liberation Army notebook containing cryptic references to her, the San Francisco Chronicle reported today.

The coed's father, newspaper magnate Randolph A. Hearst, told the Chronicle the notebook was "unquestionable proof" his daughter had "in no way" arranged her own kidnapping.

On Thursday, he called U.S. Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe irresponsible for saying Patricia was a common criminal because of her role in an SLA bank robbery. Hearst said only his daughter and her abductors knew whether she was a willing participant in the holdup.

Bank robbery suspect suicide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The FBI sought Thursday two men in connection with a 1973 Ohio bank robbery after the third holdup suspect allegedly shot himself here, the FBI said.

Palmer M. Baken Jr., special agent in charge of the FBI's Cincinnati office, said Edward Wayne Huffman, 34, put a gun in his mouth and shot himself to death Thursday just as agents and police converged on a residence to arrest him.

Huffman had been charged in the Dec. 3, 1973 robbery of the Farmers Bank of West Lebanon, Ohio, the FBI said. They said he also had been sought for questioning in a bank robbery in Tampa, Fla., and three other bank holdups in Dayton.

Two suspects in the Lebanon robbery remain at large. They are David Lee Brown, 29, of Irvin, Ky., and Roger Lee Hall, 23, of Hamilton, Ohio.

Subpoena reporters in Vesco case

NEW YORK (AP) — Reporters Sally Quinn of the Washington Post and Ymelda Dixon of the Washington Star-News have been subpoenaed as government rebuttal witnesses at the criminal conspiracy trial of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans.

The prosecution hopes their testimony will tilt the balance against Mitchell on one of the perjury counts in the indictment.

Currently under advisement by federal Judge Lee P. Gagliardi is a motion to quash the subpoena against Miss Quinn, who returned to the Post after a highly publicized five-month stint on the "CBS Morning News."

Meanwhile, Stans returns to the witness stand today to wind up cross-examination by Asst. U.S. Atty. John Wing.

Mitchell and Stans are accused of conspiring to obstruct a massive Securities and Exchange Commission fraud investigation of international financier Robert L. Vesco, in exchange for Vesco's secret $200,000 cash contribution to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign. The government claims the alleged perjury was an attempt to hide purported influence peddling from the grand jury.

One of the perjury counts in the indictment charged that Mitchell falsely denied seeing volunteer Republican campaign worker Daniel Hofgren at a political fund-raising gala at the Washington Hilton Hotel on March 8, 1972.

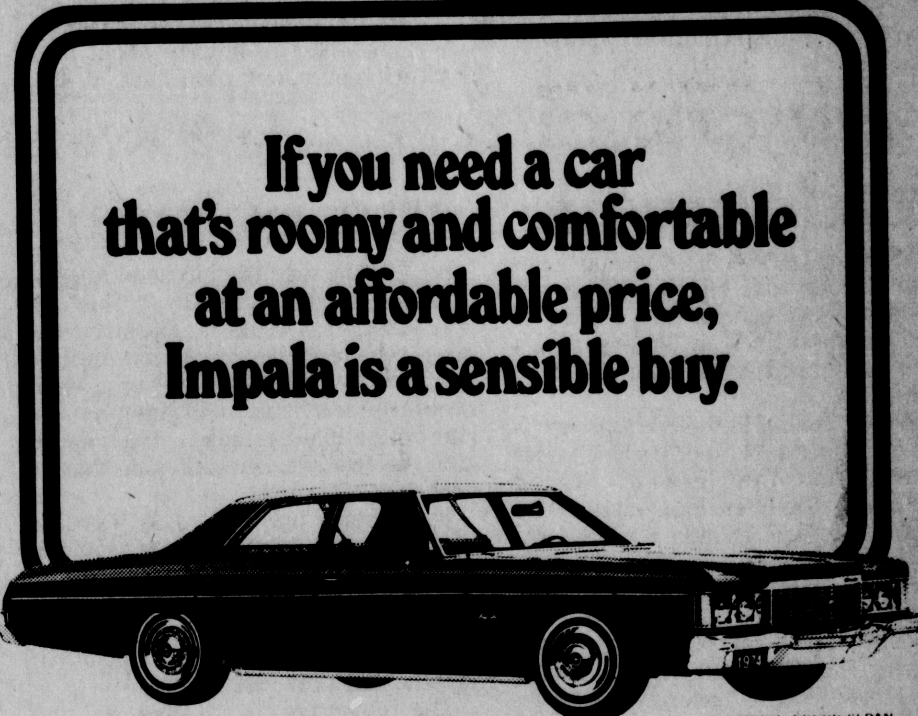

Hofgren testified he asked Mitchell if he'd seen Vesco that day and that Mitchell replied, "you stay away from that."

Miss Quinn and Miss Dixon were said to have been covering the March 8 event for their newspapers. It is known the government hoped to elicit testimony from one or both that they saw Hofgren talking to Mitchell at the Washington Hilton that night.

The Vesco aides turned over the $200,000 contribution in $100 bills to Stans on April 10, 1972. He and Mitchell had left the Cabinet by that time to direct Nixon's successful re-election effort. Stans headed the fundraising activities of the campaign, with Hugh Sloan Jr. as his finance committee treasurer.

Deferring to the Oil People

Herewith a fairy tale. Once upon a time a United States senator asked the Internal Revenue Service to provide a high school civics class with information about oil industry subsidies and tax benefits.

But the IRS thought it would be nice to let the oil industry speak its own piece on the subject, so it passed on the senator's request to the American Petroleum Institute. Which complied, of course, with suitable emphasis on the oil industry's understandably biased views.

The unfortunate thing is that this is not a fairy tale. It happened in just that way.

The senator is question, Alan Cranston of California, was not greatly pleased to have the IRS thus defer to the API. In fact, he told Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz it appeared that his agency (which includes the IRS) was "nothing more than a 'mouthpiece' - a paid apologist - for the American Petroleum Institute."

Strong language. But what is one to think when an inquiry about the government's tax treatment of an industry is referred to that industry instead of getting the factual answer such an inquiry deserves?

Cranston's letter to Shultz contains more in the same vein, expressing great dismay that the government "would defer to the American Petroleum Institute for an explanation of such important and controversial matters as percentage depletion allowance, expensive intangible drilling and development costs, the foreign tax credit" and the like.

We share his dismay, and think his swing at the Treasury Department was well deserved.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Rude awakening coming

WASHINGTON — The uproar over whether President Nixon will or will not respond to the subpoenas calling for taped conversations on Watergate is a ripple compared to the tumult still to come.

The naive belief in the White House is that the limits of the impeachment inquiry can be drawn around Watergate. The President and his chief counsel, James St. Clair, are due for a rude awakening.

Already in preparation within the House Judiciary Committee are requests for documents and tapes covering the ITT affair, the milk fund, the President's taxes, campaign financing and other aspects of his troubled presidency. If these requests are not honored, subpoenas will undoubtedly follow.

This accords with Chairman Peter Rodino's conviction that the "whole man" must be considered in the proceeding before his committee. It cannot be simply the Watergate break-in and the cover-up.

The scope of the other charges is in many respects far greater than what Administration propagandists sought at the outset to downgrade as a "caper."

Although Congress is in recess, Rodino and the committee staff are working hard through this week to try to move the inquiry ahead as rapidly as possible. Yet for all their efforts the timetable stretches into the summer.

THE CALENDAR looks at the moment like this:

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

How to prejudice a jury

What chance has Richard Nixon of getting a fair Congressional hearing in the present political climate? Not much.

He needs a change of venue, but that is impossible to get. Sen. James Buckley, though speaking with the best will in the world, has hurt him, and so have marginal characters who are now saying, without any hard evidence, that Barry Goldwater and other conservative Republicans "really" agree that it is the President's duty to resign.

The drip-drip goes on: just because Nixon, who knows the law, doesn't rush to surrender requested tapes well in advance of deadlines decided upon by his adversaries, the idea is spread abroad that the White House considers itself above the law.

Thus we have 67 per cent of the respondents in a Harris Poll conducted between March 24 and 29 saying that Nixon will "withhold important information" from the Rodino House Judiciary Committee.

The 67 per cent cannot know that this will be the case. But they have made up their minds in advance of the evidence.

THE WORST prejudicial thing I have seen is a paperback book, Leonard Lurie's "The Impeachment of Richard Nixon," which is having a great sale at airport book racks. The book ends with a series of statements which, as I write this column, have not been substantiated by anyone connected with the various Washington hearings, if we except John Dean.

One witness is not proof. Nevertheless, Lurie says: "We have never before had a President who admitted authorizing burglary. . . We have never had a President who tried to steal a national election."

When did Nixon admit authorizing burglary? I thought he had admitted authorizing the stopping of burglary. His underlings, the "plumbers," did many things they had no legal right to do if national security was not indeed involved, but what the Rodino committee has been fishing for these many weeks is proof that Nixon himself was aware of what was going on. Maybe the tapes will tell us, maybe not.

When did Nixon try to "steal" an election? It was the Democrats who nominated McGovern. The Committee to Re-elect the President boys were creeps in more ways than one, but it was not Nixon who told Howard Hunt for messages that would implicate John F. Kennedy in the murder of South Vietnam's Diem.

THE MEASURE of Mr. Lurie's fairness comes out in his treatment of the Alger Hiss case. Lurie does not mention that Hiss was convicted, not on a spy charge, but of perjury. He tried to make out that he had never known a man called Whittaker Chambers.

When both Hiss and Chambers told the same anecdote in separate rooms about Hiss's birdwatching activities concerning a prothonotary warbler, Nixon was not the only investigator who was convinced that Hiss was concealing the truth about a friendship.

When Nixon appointed Archibald Cox as a special prosecutor, he retained the right to fire him in case of extraordinary improprieties. Cox leaked information about his investigatory activities to his Kennedy friends on Capitol Hill. Wasn't this an impropriety that Nixon had a right to regard as extraordinary?

Nixon never got his own story about the reasons for the firing across, but the jury — in this case the House and, quite possibly, the Senate — would be derelict in its duty if it were to hang the President because he is inept at personal public relations.

Nixon is being tried in advance by polls, by innuendos, by outrageous statements in popular paperback writing, by requests that he resign before any guilt has been proved.

With all this going on, how can any impeachment trial be conducted without prejudice?

TV show aims at black women

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A TV variety-talk show starring Lena Horne, titled "Lena Horne's Grapevine," has been announced. The first hour-long show in the 13-week schedule will be taped here.

The show is being designed to appeal primarily to black, female adults but its creators expect to win much of the general audience as well.

Miss Horne will sing, interview guests and be hostess and commentator. Programs will be taped in the studio and on location. Cameo appearances of celebrities from the entertainment world will highlight the first show.

The results of experiments carried out in 1943 have shown that the fastest messages transmitted by the nervous system travel at 265 m.p.h. With advancing age, impulses are carried 15 per cent more slowly.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

The following was written by Mrs. Mildred Galloway Burnett, wife of Jay Burnett and a former resident of Washington C.H. who now lives in Xenia:

"How do you describe a tornado? It is impossible! Even more impossible is the description of what happens when it strikes. Homes ground to bits, large buildings of stone, brick and steel toppled, cars and trucks hurled through space, a wooded park turned into a field and, most tragic of all — death.

"Each Xenia person has their own story of what happened to them and after you have listened to that story you feel you still do not know and never will know all that person experienced. Here, as part of this letter is a brief story of our exterior experience. I am not sure we ourselves know all that happened inside our minds and hearts.

"Jay and I watched the black cloud in the west from our kitchen window, as at first it seemed to me to come toward us, then turned north. He had just been home about 15 minutes coming from the bowling alley. If he had been a few minutes later he would have been right in the path of the tornado and that probably would have been fatal.

"We heard the roar and watched the twisting, lashing trees as rain came in torrents. Then, in a few minutes, the noise, except for the rain, was over. Jay went to the bowling alley very soon and I didn't see him again for hours. The bowling alley, the motel and buildings all over that end of town were completely destroyed.

"Destruction was widespread. Homes and other buildings I have known all my life and are like dear friends are scheduled for demolition. To mention just one — the Second United Presbyterian Church, with brick and stone walls a foot-and-a-half to two feet thick, had three walls collapse inward and one wall fell out.

"Half the town is gone and 55.6 million dollars is the estimated value of the loss. The wonder is the death toll was not in the thousands; it was 35 at last report. Words absolutely cannot describe the destruction.

"All utilities were off and we were without heat from Wednesday evening until Friday midnight when our gas was turned on. The temperature during that time was around 30 degrees. Yes, I caught cold, was sick in bed two days and felt like staying there longer, but, with the phone ringing, someone at the door and Jay dashing in and out I couldn't stand it to be out of things so got up and learned to cough and blow my nose standing up.

"We are saddened by the great loss of so many but the courage and fine spirit everyone has is remarkable. And help has poured into the town from far and wide.

"People have brought and offered everything from personal assistance to Easter bunnies. Who says kindness and neighborliness have gone out of style!"

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

When the phone rings, it's a call to duty

DEAR ABBY: Here is the big argument between me and my mother. If I am home alone, should I have to answer the phone when it rings? I say only if I feel like it. She says I must, regardless!

Let's assume the phone rang, and I didn't answer it. If the call is for a member of the family who isn't home, he or she wouldn't be home to talk anyway, so if it's important, the caller would call back later, right?

If the call is for me, if I chose not to answer it that means I don't feel like talking, so that's my privilege, isn't it?

That's my argument, and my mom disagrees. I see no reason why I should have to tear myself away from whatever I'm doing to answer the telephone. I am tired of being a secretary for my parents and taking messages while they are out. If messages are that important to them they should get a mechanical box that answers telephone calls with a prerecorded message.

I am curious to know your opinion on the matter.

TIREDTEN

DEAR TIREDTEN: I think your mother is right. It could be an emergency of an important message for someone in your family. Now, get off your duff and answer the telephone when it rings!

DEAR ABBY: In a few months we will be moving into our new home, and I'd like to throw a question out to you and your readers.

We will have a swimming pool, and I want to enjoy using it; however, I've observed other pool owners having problems with uninvited guests who overstay their welcome. Also neighbors who get hurt if they are told: "No, not today."

Someone suggested the flag system but how do I keep the undesirables from joining in, too?

How can we ask people nicely to leave at a certain time without turning them off completely?

There it is. Am I making a mountain out of a molehill?

NEW POOLOWNER

DEAR OWNER: The flag system is best. Who are the "undesirables" who "might" join in, too? "If you mean strangers, ask them to leave. If they're neighbors who have been invited by you to come on over when your flag is out, when you want them to leave at a certain time make it plain beforehand, so they won't be surprised.

DEAR ABBY: At a banquet recently I was being introduced to my husband's boss and employees when a secretary piped up, "Your hair is very pretty. Or is that a wig?" (It was). There was total silence while everyone waited for my reply. Having been put on the spot, I had to tell the truth, but I don't know when I've been so humiliated.

I have witnessed nervy questions being asked of others. For example: "How much did that cost?" Also: "How come you never had any children?"

Are people getting less considerate of others? I have never noticed such bad manners before. Please tell people to cut it out!

PLEASE DON'T ASK

DEAR PLEASE: Rude, thoughtless and presumptuous people always have been with us, but no one is compelled to answer a question he doesn't want to answer. An appropriate response is, "I don't think that is any of your business." And don't hang around for a rebuttal.

Jacob Wrestles an Angel

And Jacob was left alone; and there wrestled a man until the breaking of the day . . . and he . . . prevailed not against him.

—Genesis 32: 24-25

After Jacob and his family had left Haran to return to his native land, he was met by a host of God's angels, with whom he talked, asking them to let his brother Esau know that he was on his way home. In truth, he feared meeting Esau again, but it was the Lord's will, so he sent his retinue ahead and prayed. Alone, Jacob beheld a man, with whom he began to wrestle. In no time, he realized this was no ordinary man, thus must be an angel. After a match lasting all night, the angel ordered Jacob to let go, but Jacob refused without a blessing. His adversary not only blessed him but changed his name from Jacob to Israel.

Ohio Perspective

Nixon looked well, newsmen say

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Nixon looks healthier than he did in recent television appearances, Ohio Statehouse reporters covering his visit to tornado-stricken Xenia agreed last week.

The President's flying visit was his first to Ohio since the 1972 presidential campaign when he led a motorcade through northeast Ohio.

A veteran newsmen at Xenia said Nixon looked a little older and grayer, "like the rest of us."

But, reporters found his color good. He sported a moderate tan and seemed more confident than he is at one of the grinding news conferences that inevitably keep him occupied with Watergate and related problems.

James Lynn, Housing and Urban Development secretary, said Nixon sat silent and seemed depressed while viewing the devastation from helicopter and automobile.

"But his spirit quickly revived when he saw how the residents of this community were taking it," said Lynn.

Undoubtedly the 10-year-old grandson of Secretary of State Ted W. Brown echoed Nixon's wishes in a letter he wrote recently as an assignment at his Columbus school.

"Dear President Nixon, 'I think you know me. I'm Ted W. Brown's grandson. I what (sic) to thank you for the clips and the picture. 'And I hope the Watergate will stop. 'Your friend, Steve C. Rogers.'"

Prospects for approval of an Ohio abortion control bill this year are dim, say leaders and other members of the General Assembly.

Both chambers have approved their own versions of a bill, but they are substantially different, and the next move is up to the traditionally silent Senate Rules Committee.

The U.S. Supreme Court outlawed Ohio's old abortion law in 1973. That law prohibited abortions except when needed to save the life of the mother, and only then with the approval of two licensed physicians.

Despite 14 months the legislature has had to work on it, Ohio now has no controls—not even a way to determine how many abortion clinics there are in the state or how well they are run.

Legislators admit privately that some key lawmakers are "watching their flanks" this election year and see no need to go out on a limb with a strong stand.

In addition, lawyer-members are at odds over legal mechanics of a new set of controls.

The legislation, as a result, remains bottled up in the Rules Committee, which meets privately and has an unwritten agreement that members will not talk about each other's positions on the outside.

Media centers given aid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Each of Ohio's nine instructional media centers will get $50,000 to buy audio-visual materials, the state Department of Education announced Thursday.

Martin W. Essex, Ohio's education superintendent, said in a statement the extra money is aimed at making films and other materials available to teachers when they need them.

"Few school districts can afford their own film library," he said. "Through the media center in their region, teachers have a variety of audio-visual instructional materials available for every classroom subject."

The centers, which replaced the state film library, are in Wilmington, Marietta, Dayton, Elyria, Circleville, Warren, New Philadelphia, Bowling Green and Cleveland.

Report many still homeless from April 3 tornadoes

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Seven out of 10 tornado-stricken Ohio families eligible for temporary housing assistance from the federal government still don't have it, according to Dean Pieper, director of the U.S. Housing and Urban Development's disaster field team in Cincinnati.

But Pieper said HUD has set May 31 as the deadline for finding housing for all Ohio families whose homes were destroyed by the April 3 tornadoes in Xenia and the Cincinnati area.

Housing for 406 families in the first two weeks after such a disaster "sets a record" for speed, Pieper said.

Pieper said at a Thursday news conference that the agency wanted to clarify any misunderstandings about HUD policy.

Pieper said HUD has 80 mobile homes at its staging area near Wilmington. At least 25 will be sent to the Sayler Park area of Cincinnati for temporary housing. A HUD announcement earlier in the day from Washington had ruled out use of mobile homes in Ohio.

Most of those whose homes were left uninhabitable by the storms are expected to be housed in rental homes or apartments, Pieper said.

Mobile homes will be used as a housing resource if rental property is not available near the victims' homes. HUD said up to $3,000 would be available to home owners whose homes can be made livable with minor repairs.

He said many displaced families are living with relatives and have not applied for aid. People whose insurance pays for temporary housing are not eligible for federal aid.

Pieper answered criticism from some victims that red tape has delayed aid.

"There is always a degree of red tape," he said. "It is a near impossibility to . . . immediately house" all who need it.

He said a field staff will remain in operation for at least a year.

Penn Central strike ends

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Pickets were gone and operations were back to normal today at Penn Central freight yards in New Jersey, New York and the Midwest, a railroad spokesman said.

The picketing ended after the railroad's Pennsylvania Truck Lines and the Teamsters Union signed an agreement Thursday in Chicago in a jurisdictional dispute, the spokesman said.

About 125 clerks at piggyback rail-truck terminals in Port Newark, Weehawken, North Bergen and South Kearny, N.J.; New York; Chicago; St. Louis; Cincinnati and Columbus, Ohio; and Elkhart and Indianapolis, Ind., were resisting a company proposal to transfer them to another division. The transfer would have switched their union jurisdiction from the Teamsters to the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks. The railroad abandoned the transfer proposal Wednesday.

Picketing ended Thursday afternoon in the Midwest and about midnight in New Jersey and New York, the spokesman said.

Teamsters officials had said 90 percent of the freight, including perishables, carried by Penn Central's rail-truck service had to be rerouted and was delayed several days.

Picketing began in the New York and New Jersey on April 1. It was halted by a court action until last week, when a U.S. District Court judge here lifted a temporary injunction against it.

Couple resides in Miamisburg

Miss Mary Carolyn Nungesser, daughter of Mr. W. N. Nungesser, 211 Sycamore St., became the bride of David Nichols Gerstner, son of Mrs. Mary Gerstner, 204 Ogle St., in a candlelight ceremony in Grace United Methodist Church. The Rev. Allen Puffenberger officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Gene Hughes, organist, presented a variety of traditional and contemporary wedding selections which included A Time for Us, Bell Soliloquy, Evening Star, Liebestraum and a Wild Rose. Selections presented by Mr. Ron Wilson, vocalist, were One Hand, One Heart and Color My World. He also sang the Wedding Prayer preceding the wedding ceremony.

The church was decorated with vases of Kilian daisies, green Fuji mums, white gladioli and heathen with lavender ribbons. Two seven-branch candelabra completed the setting.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a high neck organza gown with attached chapel train. The bodice, train, and front of the gown were trimmed with chantilly lace. There was a satin band and bow at the empire waist, as well as small satin-covered buttons on the bodice. She wore a chapel-length mantilla trimmed with chantilly lace and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, white carnations and stephanotis tied with showers of bridal peot ribbons.

Miss Tanya Malavich of Fairborn, maid of honor, wore a full length dress of light blue satin with blue and aqua floral overlay. Short puffed sleeves and round neckline were complimented with a white ivory necklace. A long satin ribbon accented the empire waist. Bridesmaids Mrs. Judy Kelley, Mrs. Brenda Hughes and Miss Cathy Newbrey, all of Washington C.H., wore dresses styled like the maid of honor, except the bodices were aqua. Each attendant carried a white basket of blue, aqua and green daisies and baby's breath with showers of white ribbon.

Serving as best man was Wayne McCoy of Washington C.H. Seating the wedding guests were David Cooper, Paul Wickenseimer and George Wilson, all formerly of Washington C.H.

See meat-market stability coming

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a year that began with price controls on meat and a consumer beef boycott, a top Agriculture Department livestock-market expert is optimistic about meat-market stability both for grocery shoppers and cattlemen later this year.

And John Larsen of the Economic Research Service also agreed with an American National Cattlemen's Association statement that "one thing is certain...We continue to have a large supply of cattle. Beef should be plentiful for weeks to come."

Larsen's picture, in response to reporters' questions Thursday after the quarterly cattle-on-feed report, is one of as much beef in supermarkets this spring as last and "a net increase in total production" of both fed cattle and cattle that will go to slaughter on little or no grain.

The report itself said that one per cent more beef is expected to flow out of the feedlots during the April-June quarter than a year ago, when the boycott hit. That still would be 6 per cent below Spring 1972.

But he said, cattlemen have an incentive to stop holding off over-fattened grazing cattle now that grain prices are better than a year ago and the price of live cattle shows good signs of strengthening.

Larsen said his predictions are not drawn from the report, which also showed placement of cattle on feed down 12 per cent in the first quarter of this year but marketing down only 8 per wins Schwartz Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Stanley Plumly, an Ohio University teacher of creative writing, won the Delmore Schwartz Memorial Poetry Award of $1,000 on Thursday.

Phillip Mayerson, dean of New York University's College of Arts and Science, said the award was made for Plumly's first book of poems, "In the Outer Dark," published in 1970.

The award, in honor of an NYU graduate, is made annually to a poet who has published only one book but is thought by judges to be distinguished at the current stage of his development.

cent in a glutted market.

The report also contained figures illustrating the excess of heavy cattle in the feedlots: In the category of 1,100 pounds or more, the number on feed was 89 per cent higher than a year ago while all other weight categories were below 1973 levels.

Those figures were for the 23 largest beef states. For the seven largest, placements were down 22 per cent in March from the year before and marketings were up 3 per cent after February's 13 per cent drop, an effect partly of the truckers' strike.

"Stability's what we're hoping for," Larsen said, after a year of distortions and abnormal patterns in the market that are still continuing and make it hard for the analysts to assess.

Stiff fine imposed for trash-dumping

A Washington C.H. man who repeatedly had been found guilty of dumping trash on public and private property received a stiff fine and a suspended jail sentence in Municipal Court Thursday.

Judge Reed M. Winegardner fined Danny Hoagland, 33, of 834 Washington Ave., $500 and sentenced him to 30 days in jail. The jail term and $200 of the fine were suspended.

Audry Hoagland, 31, who was with her husband when they were arrested by sheriff's deputies, was fined $250 and sentenced to 15 days in jail. Both her fine and jail sentence were suspended. She was seated in the front seat while her husband dumped trash from the rear of their vehicle near Hickory Lane, evidence indicated.

The conviction marked the fifth time in less than a year that Hoagland had been found guilty of illegally dumping trash, and the $300 fine imposed was more than his previous fines combined. It was Mrs. Hoagland's first arrest.

Afterwards Judge Winegardner said, "I've given him every break I could,

the county just can't put up with this any longer."

Richard L. Saxour, of New Holland, failed to appear and forfeited $25 bond on a charge of driving a motor vehicle in the Deer Creek Wildlife area where such vehicles are prohibited. He had been charged by conservation officers.

Rattlesnake Creek

Rattlesnake Creek enhance not only land use, but the productive capability of the land to enable us to feed ourselves domestically and worldwide," Urmston said.

A 40-minute slide presentation, which depicted water management problems, was shown by Peterson.

Jack Pavey, a representative of the Fayette County Fish and Game Association, said association members are willing to cooperate with the project and hope that fish population and wildlife habitat will be improved. Economic factors involved following improved drainage in the area were presented by John R. Gruber, Fayette County agricultural Extension agent.

LAURENCE (BUCKY) DUMFORD, chairman of the Upper Paint Creek Watershed Steering Committee, spoke in favor of the project. "The productive capabilities of this land are critical to the food production of our country and provide for economic well-being of hundreds of farmers as well as guaranteeing a continued flow of cash into the related businesses," Dumford said.

Speaking for the Fayette County Board of Commissioners, J. Herbert Perrill, board chairman, said the commissioners hope for completion of the project and that they are not adverse in paying their share of the cost.

Other favorable comments were voiced by Lewis Overturf, chairman of the Madison County Board of Commissioners; Richard Davidson, representing the Fayette County Farm Bureau board of directors; Richard M. Carson, representing Fayette County Grange organizations; Oscar C. Hackney, of the Clinton County Board of Commissioners, and a number of district conservationists.

Russell C. Mills, area conservationist from Circleville, explained planning procedures for watershed projects.

The 200 guests were welcomed to the public hearing by William E. Stewart, Sabina mayor.

Hearing set in larceny by trick

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (AP)— A preliminary hearing is scheduled next Friday in Willoughby Municipal Court for Charles W. Kontra, who is charged with larceny by trick and obtaining money under false pretenses.

Kontra, 43, a former detective in the Lake County prosecutor's office, pleaded innocent Thursday and he was released on $20,000 bond set by Judge Richard Hoose.

He was arrested at his home in Wickliffe Wednesday night on a complaint by Mrs. Elaine Lewis, 43, of Willoughby.

Mrs. Lewis told police she paid Kontra $2,500 last October to fix a five-count traffic ticket, including driving while intoxicated, which she received in Willoughby Hills earlier that month.

She said the ticket never was fixed and that she wound up in court in January and paid $700 in fines and court costs.

We don't tell you it will if it won't

There are stores selling paint these days that will tell you just about anything to make the sale. And then the problems come. The paint doesn't do what you were told it would do.

Not so at our store. Paint is not a sideline with us. It's our bread and butter and we tell it like it is.

If a primer coat is needed . . . we'll tell you. If one-coat won't cover . . . we'll tell you. If latex paint (instead of an oil base type) is best to use . . . we'll tell you. If one gallon is all you need . . . we won't push for a two-gallon sale.

We guarantee you'll get the right paint at the right price and in the right amount. That's why seeing us is the right thing to do.

Absentee ballots accepted

Absentee voters will have an opportunity to cast their ballots at the Fayette County Board of Elections office in the Courthouse from 9 a.m. until 12 noon Saturday and Saturday, April 27.

Mrs. Jennings also said the 2-C precinct in Washington C.H. has been enlarged along with other changes in city voting precincts.

The 2-C precinct was relatively small, and the enlargement relieves the overpopulated 2-D precinct. The new north boundary line of the 2-C precinct will be the south side of Dayton Avenue. All voters residing south of the new boundary line will vote at Billie Wilson's garage, 215 McKinley Ave. Paint Creek was formerly the north boundary of the precinct.

TV Viewing

by JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Frank McGee, the NBC newsmen whose little-known fight against bone cancer ended in death this week, is being buried Sunday near Washington, Va., a small farming town 65 miles from the nation's capital.
McGee, 52, a polite, unassuming man, was eulogized Thursday on NBC's "Today" show, a program he joined in October 1971. The eulogies, however well-intended, seemed overdone. He'd probably have winced at them.
You rarely read much about him until his death Wednesday. He was an anomaly among top network anchormen, for whom publicity machines work long and hard to get names known and news shows watched.
One felt he reluctantly went along with the drumbeating when called on to help publicize his TV projects. But he was neither an overt nor covert publicity hound. He simply was a journalist and a good one.
Although his fame stemmed back to the late 1950s, when he drew acclaim for his calm, penetrating coverage of the civil rights battles, it wasn't until one day in 1962 that I fully realized how good he was.

He was on the air, describing a tickertape parade for John Glenn, the first U.S. astronaut to orbit the earth, when a jetliner crashed on takeoff from Idlewild Airport, killing everyone aboard.
NBC covered both scenes live. And McGee, facing millions of viewers from a midtown studio, suddenly had to make the supremely difficult on-the-air transition from great triumph to great tragedy.
He did it repeatedly for several hours under tremendous pressure that would have sent lesser men to mental wards. He conveyed the sharply contrasting moods of airport horror and Broadway hurrahs with unfailing calmness and intelligence for which he was admired.
He continued working, even though in great pain, until April 11, when he checked into a hospital. It was there he died of pneumonia which his doctor said was brought on by a combination of both the cancer and the treatment that sought to arrest it.

Southeastern Ohio tourism grant nixed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed $150,000 grant to promote tourism in southeastern Ohio, has been rejected by the Appalachia Regional Commission.
The commission voted 8-3 against the proposal after hearing arguments from other Appalachian states that such a grant would hurt tourism in their own areas, a spokesman said.

A French researcher found that great vintages in Burgundy wines follow maximum solar activity.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Willard J. Hutzel of Trotwood, an associate professor at Wright State University, was named Thursday to the Ohio Fulbright-Hays State Scholarship Committee, replacing state Rep. Peter Crossland, D-42 Akron, who resigned.

Most teams committing 15 errors in a game would usually lose a game. Right? Wrong.

Miami Trace girls' softball squad had 15 miscues in their contest against Washington Senior High, Thursday afternoon. However, the Lionettes had 20 errors and the Pantherettes extended their perfect record to four games with a 33-13 slaughter.

What decided the game was the ability of the Pantherettes to take advantage of Washington's errors and come through with key hits in important situations. Miami Trace out-hit Washington 34-9 in the seven innings. In each inning, Miami Trace managed to send at least two runners across the plate. Seven runs in the third inning and eight runs in the fourth put the game well out of reach of the Lionettes' grasp. Washington did manage to score in every inning except the third.

Shortstop Pam Matson was the hitting star of the game for Miami Trace. Matson slammed out six hits, including a double and a home run, in seven trips to the plate. She also scored six runs.

Miami Trace's Debbie Morarity had four hits, including a double, and scored five times. Jerry Wilson tripled and homered, while Jeanette Anderson also homered.

Johnna Upthegrove had the only extra base hit for Washington. She tripled in the bottom of the fourth inning.

Jodie Hatfield was credited with the victory. Upthegrove suffered the loss. Miami Trace travels to Circleville next Tuesday.

Aaron slaps first single

By The Associated Press

Hank Aaron finally hit one...a single, that is.

"It's about time," the Atlanta superstar said Thursday night after getting his first non-home run hit of the baseball season.

Ralph Garr, meanwhile, was smacking everything in sight, getting three straight hits, driving in two runs and scoring twice to lead the Braves to a 7-2 victory over the San Diego Padres.

In Thursday's other National League games, St. Louis beat Philadelphia 6-2, Montreal downed the New York Mets 8-5, San Francisco defeated Houston 5-2 and the Chicago Cubs edged Pittsburgh 1-0. In the American League, the New York Yankees whipped Boston 6-1, Minnesota clipped California 3-2 and Baltimore's game at Detroit was rained out.

Braves 7, Padres 2

Aaron's only three hits going into Thursday night's games were, as if you hadn't heard, home runs, the 714th, 715th and 716th of his career. But in 21 other official at-bats, he hadn't managed so much as a single. Then, last Monday night, he hurt his shoulder making a throw. He'd been sidelined since then.

Against the Padres, he walked, struck out twice, then grounded a single up the middle, putting his average at .167.

"The shoulder hurts and I can't swing the bat," Aaron said. "It feels terrible and it keeps me from swinging freely."

Garr had gotten hits in his last four at-bats Wednesday night in a 6-1 loss to the Padres, then kept the streak going in his first three Thursday night.

He was so intent on making it eight in a row that he strode to the plate in the eighth inning without a batting helmet.

"I was just thinking about hitting the ball," he admitted sheepishly. "The umpire told me I'd forgotten the helmet, the fans told me...everybody was telling me." After he put it on, he grounded out.

It's been quite a turnaround for Garr, who went 0-for-16 at the start of the season but has hit at a 21-for-38 clip since then to put his average at .382.

Cards 6, Phils 2

Pitcher Lynn McGlothen's two-run double helped the Cards snap the Phils' six-game winning streak. He and Ron Schueler pitched scoreless ball through four innings before St. Louis took the lead on McGlothen's hit.

Bake McBride's sacrifice fly in the sixth gave the Cards the winning run and they added two in the eighth on Ken Reitz' single.

Cubs 1, Pirates 0

Chicago managed only an unearned run off Jim Rooker—but that's all the Cubs needed to send the Pirates tumbling down to their ninth setback in 11 games.

Rick Monday and Jerry Morales singled in the first inning, with Monday making it to third when second baseman Rennie Stennett committed an error on the throw in. Then Williams delivered a sacrifice fly.

From then on, Ken Frailing and Ray Burris did the job, scattering seven Pittsburgh hits.

Yanks 6, Red Sox 1

George "Doc" Medich stifled Boston on four hits—one of them Bernie

Carbo's homer with two outs in the ninth inning—and rode New York's six-run sixth inning to an easy victory over the Red Sox.

Rick Wise, in his second American League start, had the Yankees stifled until the big sixth. Then Bobby Murcer singled, Ron Blomberg doubled, Graig Nettles hit a sacrifice fly and Duke Sims and Gene Michael doubled to make it 3-0.

Diego Segui replaced Wise, who walked Jim Mason and struck out Roy White before Mike Hegan capped the explosion with a three-run homer.

Twins 3, Angels 2

Steve Brye's three-run homer in the sixth inning carried Minnesota to victory and within a game of the first-place Angels in the AL West.

A walk to Joe Lis and a single by Eric Soderholm preceded Brye's shot over the left field wall off rookie Frank Tanana. California scored its runs in the seventh inning on a double by Bobby Valentine, a walk to Frank Robinson, Bob Oliver's single and Lee Stanton's grounder.

Lions edge Hurricanes in nine, 4-3

By MARK REA
Washington C.H. Blue Lions, behind the outstanding pitching of senior Craig Stibelton, won their second South Central Ohio League game to even their mark at 2-2. The victims were the Wilmington Hurricanes and the result was a nine-inning 4-3 win for the Lions at Wilmington, Thursday evening.

Stibelton pitched almost perfect baseball, going the full nine innings, allowing just seven hits, giving up no earned runs, striking out 12, and walking only one. Stibelton also singled and scored a run in his own behalf.

Stibelton's counterpart, Duane Earley, also pitched a good game. In his nine innings of work, he allowed 11 hits, four earned runs, struck out five and walked five. At one point in the game, Earley had set down seven consecutive Lion hitters.

Runs finally came in the third for Washington C.H. Jeff Wallace led off the inning with a single. Stibelton came up a bounced one to pitcher Earley for the force on Wallace at second. Then Johnson walked, sending Stibelton to second, and was promptly singled home by Craig Shaffer to make the score 1-0.

Runs came in bunches in the fourth inning. Washington C.H. scored again; this time David Rittenhouse walked, Wallace singled him to second, Stibelton singled him home and Johnson squeezed Wallace home to make the score 3-0 in favor of the Lions.

Wilmington got all of their runs in the fourth but all were unearned as a result of three costly Lion errors. After one out, Jeff Earley reached on an error. Then Brown singled him to second and Jerry Payne reached on another error loading the bases. Brad Van Pelt then cracked a single scoring Earley and Brown and pitcher Earley reached base on still another error scoring Payne and knotting the game at 3-3.

Three runs apiece was the way the game stayed until the deciding ninth inning.

Allan Coppock led off the inning with a single into right field. Then Willis, the cleanup hitter, played strategy and sacrificed Coppock to second on a perfect bunt. Herb Bonner, who went three-for-five on the day and is batting .412 on the season, uncorked a clothesline single into right center scoring Coppock from second.

Panthers now 4-0 in SCOL

CIRCLEVILLE — Miami Trace bombed Tiger hurler Perri Hoskins for 12 earned runs, as the Panthers blitzed past Circleville, 12-8, Thursday.

With the victory, the Panthers remain in first place in the South Central Ohio League with a perfect 4-0 record. Miami Trace is 4-4 for the season.

Thirteen hits were pounded out by the Panthers. Leading the way were Phil Skinner, Randy Kirk and Greg Cobb. Skinner had three hits, one of which was a triple, in three trips to the plate. He also scored three times and collected two runs batted-in.

Cobb, who is a sophomore, doubled twice, knocking in two runs. Kirk swatted a triple and a double, as he also collected two runs batted-in.

Five run outbursts in the second and fourth innings made the difference in the game for the Panthers.

In the second frame, Randy Reiber and Jay Mossbarger reached base by way of a walk and a single. John Woodrow's single brought Reiber across the plate and Kirk tripled, scoring both Mossbarger and Woodrow. With two outs, Skinner tripled, scoring Kirk, and Cobb came through with a double to put the Panthers ahead 5-0.

After the Tigers came up with three runs in the bottom of the second, Miami Trace took a 10-3 lead. After Kirk doubled and Bob Phillips walked, Tom Pfaff sacrificed them ahead one base. Skinner's single brought Kirk in to score and Tom Riley walked to load the bases. Reiber's single and a triple by Mossbarger scored four more runs.

Tonight, the Panthers travel to Greenfield.

THE BETTER HALF

By Barnes

"Hand me one of those twenties you're sitting on."

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Use Head, Save Back

I have just begun a new job with the Sanitation Dept. It seems that everybody who has been there for any length of time either has a hernia or some kind of back problem.

We lift heavy things all day long. Is there any way that I can protect myself?

Mr. J.W., III.

Dear Mr. W.:

You are wise to give consideration to these occupational hazards.

Chronic low-back injuries often reflect the bad judgment of lifting weights that are beyond one's own capacity. The phrase "Use your head and save your back" has real medical validity.

There are some simple rules of lifting unusually heavy weights so that injury to the muscles of the back and the spine can be avoided.

If the weight seems greater than you can handle yourself don't show bravado. Get someone else to help you. If your back is injured you will have to call for help later, anyway.

When lifting, take a firm stance with the feet properly spread apart and directly face the weight to be lifted.

This is most important: bend knees and keep the back straight. Then, with a good grip on the load, lift it by straightening the legs.

Lift the weight slowly rather than with a sudden jerk. Keep the weight close to you and don't twist your body while lifting.

Most of the trouble occurs when young people try to display their strength and prowess by lifting an excessive weight. You already see around you the results of improper weight lifting.

A good supporting belt of canvas or elastic can help prevent the incapacitation of hernias and back strain.

More and more organizations are using mechanical lifts so that workers do not have to pay the penalty of pain and incapacitation.

Is it dangerous to use X-ray treatment for bursitis of the shoulder?

Mr. B.L., Tenn.

Dear Mr. L.:

Small, nonharmful doses of X-ray have for many years been used to relieve the pain and the swelling of shoulder bursitis.

This technique, still in use, has probably given way to simpler forms of treatment, such as rest to the shoulder and injections of local anesthetics and cortisone.

You can be certain that if your doctor prescribed it, it is perfectly safe.

Drills studded with hundreds of coarse diamonds are preferred for boring oil wells, because the bits do not have to be drawn up thousands of feet for frequent replacement.

Youth Activities

AMBITIOUS FARMERS 4-H

Chris and Jeff Schlichter started the meeting of the Ambitious Farmers 4-H Club by leading the club members in the pledges. Attendance was checked before the main importance of the meeting had begun.

Officers for the year were elected and they are Kevin DeMent, president; Connie Hughes, vice president; Susan Coe, secretary; Debbie Bowsher, news reporter; Jimette Cornell, treasurer; Terry Hoppes and Beth Jenks safety and health leaders; and Sandy Hughes and Craig DeMent, recreation.

It was decided among members that all seniors will be program leaders. In the future, we hope to have many interesting speakers.

A judging contest was announced. Clark Coe, adviser, told of the livestock rules changed since last year.

The next meeting will be in the Jeffersonville Elementary School.

Debbie Bowsher, reporter

BUSY BEES 4-H

Julia Blake opened the Busy Bees 4-H Club meeting and Jenny Martin led the pledges. Lana McCoy took roll call and all answered by what we thought we deserved in our Easter baskets, if we paid our dues. Lana read the minutes of the last meeting, and Jenny Martin gave the treasurer's report.

Jill Dorn gave the safety report on "Safety Outside." Rita Berwanger gave a citizenship report.

We discussed the Mother's Tea. Jill Dorn told the group that the DP&L auditorium was available for this event. We decided that the last two meetings would be held in the afternoon.

Demonstrations were made by Jenny Martin and Becky Merriman on items for a sewing box, and Lisa Jackson had made a lamb shaped popcorn cake decorated with jelly beans, green coconut and marshmallows. She showed all how to make one.

Cindy Wieland will be hostess for the next meeting.

Becky Merriman, reporter

LADS AND LASSIES

The meeting of the Livestock Lads and Lassies 4-H Club was called to order by Keith Holbrook. The pledges were led by Beth Chaney. Old and new business was discussed. A health report on "Alcohol" was made. Parents were thanked for being present and participating in the recreation. Randy Keiser and Beth Chaney closed the meeting.

Refreshments were served by the advisers. The next meeting will be a tour of Gorton Locker Plant and members will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday.

Dessert Smorgasbord turnout tops 300

FOOD AND THOUGHT — The tenth annual Dessert Smorgasbord sponsored by the Fayette County Unit of the American Cancer Society was presented Thursday night at the Mahan building to some 300 people. After the goodies, David H. Greigor, M.D., expounded upon his research concerning rectal and colon cancer which is the biggest cancer killer next to lung cancer. A free checkup for all interested people is scheduled at the Medical Arts building on April 28. In case you're wondering, the women in the picture getting dessert, did not forget to take their price tags off their dresses; those are name tags.

Nearly 300 people of all ages attended the tenth annual dessert smorgasbord sponsored by Fayette County chapter of the American Cancer Society in the Mahan Building Thursday night.

Guest speaker was Dr. David M. Greigor, who did much to pioneer the research in colon cancer detection.

Dr. Greigor, a 1941 graduate of Ohio State University's College of Medicine, specializes in internal medicine and is associated with Mount Carmel Hospital.

He spoke about the 100,000 new cases of colon cancer which will develop this year.

"Colon cancer is the biggest killer next to lung cancer," Dr. Greigor stated, "and if we can detect it, we can stop it."

EVERY ADULT in Fayette County will receive the chance to stop it, April 28.

Tests for colon and rectal cancer will be sponsored by the Fayette County Unit of the American Cancer Society in the Medical Arts building, 616 Willard St., from 1:30 p.m. through 4:30 p.m. on that Sunday.

Washington C.H. physicians will administer the tests which are painless and free and will take about five minutes.

Dr. Byers W. Shaw, project chairman and the man responsible for arranging Dr. Greigor's appearance, said participating physicians are expecting about 400 persons to attend. Twelve rooms will be available for testing and physicians expect to test 120 patients per hour.

Men and women over 40 years of age are especially asked to attend the test, but anyone of any age is welcome.

Each participant will receive a kit and complete instructions, with which to take samples at home.

Sunday, April 21, is another "red-letter" day for the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society. On this date, volunteers will be crusading for contributions to be used in cancer research, education and service.

Three fires cause only minor damage

A truck owned by Redman Industries, 2000 Kenskill Ave., caught fire while undergoing repairs at Wilson's Garage, U.S. 22-E, at 3:14 p.m. Thursday.

Washington C.H. firemen were summoned to the scene, but the blaze had been extinguished. Firemen explained the fire started when the truck backfired through the carburetor. There was no damage.

A shed caught fire on the Ralph Marcy farm, Cook-Yankeetown Rd., Madison Township, at 7:31 p.m. Thursday, the Sheriff's Department reported.

Apparently some boys had set fire to an outhouse which was to be burned down, but the shed also caught fire.

A gas leak caused a tractor to blaze up on the Payton farm, Wentz Rd., at 9:47 a.m. today. Sgt. John Emrick of the Sheriff's Department, who was at the scene, reported no damage.

The Jeffersonville Fire Department was summoned, but the fire was out upon their arrival.

FBI probes slaying during raid

KENT, Ohio (AP)—The shooting death of a Kent State University student by a narcotics agent during a raid March 6 is being investigated by the FBI.

Ann Fry, co-chairman of the Kent State Student Union, said the federal investigation was requested by the union and the Portage County chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union separately. She said the requests were made after the Portage County grand jury ruled March 27 that the death of Gary T. Sherman of Alliance was justifiable.

The FBI said Thursday it started the investigation about a week ago.

Sherman, 21, was killed by an agent with the multicounty MAT narcotics unit during a raid in Rootstown Township south of Kent. MAT, which stands for Mahoning, Ashtabula and Trumbull counties, contracted to serve Portage County.

A MAT official said the agent fired at Sherman when the student made a sudden move with his hands toward his belt.

Portage County Prosecutor Ronald Kane said the shooting was investigated thoroughly by his office. He said he didn't know "what possibly could have been left untouched."

Instant Credit CAN MEAN Instant Debt

Take another look at those credit cards in your pocketbook. They represent the latest thing in efficiency when it comes to charging the purchase of a product, but then they also represent instant debt. If not repaid on time, interest can be as high as 18 percent.

Doesn't it make better sense to save FIRST for what you want to buy. Not only will we pay YOU for the privilege of using your money, but you may save on the finance charges.

Think it over. These days, it pays to save money whenever you get the opportunity.
